FACEBOOK GESTAPO CENSORSHIP OF LEADER V. FACEBOOK "PRIVATE" CONVERSATIONS VERIFIED

FEB. 11, 2013 UPDATE)—AFI received troubling reports this weekend that Facebook is censoring users who are working to publicize the Leader v. Facebook judicial corruption scandal. In one report Facebook PREVENTED friend-ing between a user and the Chief of Staff of the House of Representatives. In this report, the message from Facebook was essentially that the user was limited to friend-ing friends (and not politicians). This form of censorship , if true (the news source is credible), is against our most fundamental Freedom of Speech rights embodied in the First Amendment of the U.S. Constitution . But of course, such conduct is consistent with the massive abuse of rights that we are seeing from the federal courts in Leader v. Facebook. Here's the comment . We suggest that readers forward this link to decision influencers in their networks.

FIG. 1—So much for the Facebook "Open" Graph Open for who? The Facebook secret police ? Lessons from the KGB's "Top 10 lessons learned to undermine a free market?" A handbook from Yuri Milner, Facebook's "Man in Moscow" (and 2nd largest shareholder)?

Remember, Milner worked for the Russian Bank Menatep, caught laundering $10 billion in Russian mob money, and diverting almost $5 billion in IMF and World Bank funds. He did this in the years preceding his multi-billion investments in Facebook with oligarch Alisher Usmanov (and Goldman Sachs-Moscow, recipient of $X in US taxpayer bailout funds)

NEW (FEB. 13, 2013 12:18 PM EST): AFI is receiving more verified reports of Facebook Gestapo censorship of "private" conversations among Facebook users whenever the topic turns to the growing Leader v. Facebook judicial corruption scandal. We will not publish the exact contents to preserve the anonymity of the whistle blowers. Of course, readers should know that the "FB Gestapo" is able to search on this simple key phrase and find EVERY conversation on the planet that has used this phrase, and then start targeting those individuals for censorship. This is true for any data in Facebook, including your so-called "private" conversations. Private in Facebook-speak means the exact opposite. Any advertiser can purchase it, and any Facebook insider can search it. Some euphemistically call this activity "data mining."

And of course, this immoral conduct is perfectly "legal." Why you ask? Because Facebook's attorneys wrote a deceptive user license agreement full of enough twists and turns to make magician Harry Houdini blush. You agreed to hand over all your data to Facebook as the price you paid to get "free" use of the platform, which of course, is stolen from Leader Technologies. More immorality, the theft is illegal.

Immorality Illegality. Why do the Facebook users permit such appalling abuse of rights? What does this say about the state of morals in America? By the way, Facebook's license does say that you "own" your data . . . until you share it, then you give it up to them forever. So, since a social network is about sharing, voile, you can't take back anything you've shared with even one other person. Therefore, you've given up everything. Very clever, eh?

(FEB. 11, 2013 16:38 PM EST): We have just received a report that Facebook is censoring links to the page for "Lawless America" which is investigating judicial corruption in America. This blogger has been conversing in private chat mode with Lawless America before being blocked; first sporadically, now permanently. So much for the "private" in private chat. We encourage our readers to follow Lawless America and inform them about the growing Leader v. Facebook judicial and Patent Office corruption scandal.

PATENT OFFICE COVER-UP IN LEADER V. FACEBOOK

(FEB. 8, 2013 UPDATE)—The specter of judicial bribery is spreading to the U.S. Patent Office. AFI has just received new documents clearly showing a cover-up. These documents need no editorial comment. They speak for themselves. Facebook appears to be railroading some sort of "re-examination" proceeding through their paid staff (and paid administrative judges?) at the USPTO? Leader has already won these arguments at trial and in two reexaminations.

Click here to read the USPTO Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) Leader v. Facebook cover-up documents: GoogleDocs

The three administrative judges who approved what is in effect a FOURTH review of the same worn out, losing Facebook prior art arguments are:

1. Judge Allen R. MacDonald
2. Judge Stephen C. Siu
3. Judge Meredith C. Petravick

Should these judges join the Wall of Shame? We invite readers to investigate these judges and their staffs, whose names are identified on the blanked-out FOIA documents.

ORIGINAL POST

(JAN. 29, 2013)—Judicial bribery appears to be all the rage in Washington these days. Therefore, should it be any surprise that Mark Zuckerberg, the one proven guilty of infringing Leader Technologies' patent on 11 of 11 counts, would use attorneys who have no qualms about bribing federal judges? Their partners in Moscow certainly know how it works. It's a strategic warfare tactic they developed called "lawfare" to corrupt the American judicial system. Interesting question.

Facebook's main law firms involved in Leader v. Facebook are Gibson Dunn LLP, Cooley Godward LLP and White & Case LLP, not to mention that Facebook's inside counsel Samuel O'Rourke worked previously for Heidi Keefe and Mark Weinstein at White & Case. The other three attorneys that play prominently in this case are Gibson Dunn's Thomas Hungar (also Microsoft's attorney), Cooley's Jeffrey Norberg and Michael Rhodes. Directing the whole effort is Facebook's attorney Theodore Ulyot who made out like a bandit in the Facebook IPO. Oh by the way, did we talk about the cozy relationship between these lawyers and The Federal Circuit Bar Association . . . and Supreme Court clerks?

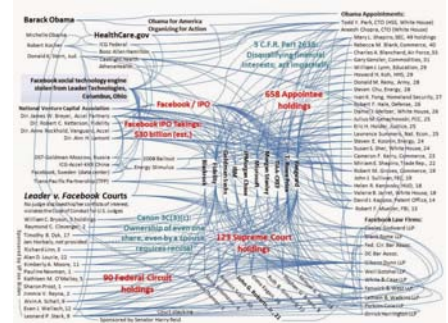

Facebook financial interests and his reliance on Facebook's Cooley Godward LLP attorneys for his appointment.

W LL HUMANKIND EVER LEARN? Facebook's Orwellian doublespeak about property and privacy (theft) merely repeats the eventual dehumanization of the individual under MAO's Red Star, Stalin's SOVIET Hammer & Cycle and Hitler's NAZI Swastika. Respect for the inalienable rights of each individual is a bedrock value of democracy. The members of the Facebook Cabal abuse this principle at every opportunity. They evidently believe that they deserve special privileges and are willing to lie, cheat and steal in order to treat themselves to these privileges.

ASK CONGRESS: PASS THE INVENTOR PROTECTION ACT!

Judicial bribery and payoffs in Leader v. Facebook seem all but certain considering the breadth and depth of the collective misconduct. It seems that these judges would have had no other motive than money to hand Facebook its dubious victory based on lies and turning blind eyes. They risked life appointments. See Wall of Shame below. If they have risked their jobs for Facebook, there must be an awfully big reward waiting somewhere. Students of Facebook speculate that there must be hundreds if not thousands of these accounts somewhere. They appear to have bought a lot of silence in the Caymans, Dubai, Bermuda, Moscow, Singapore, Hong Kong? The deeper this scandal gets, the more the mind wanders. You'll have to decide for yourself.

WHERE MIGHT THE FUNDS BE PARKED?

It is public knowledge that Moscow-based DST (aka Digital Sky, aka Mail.ru, aka Yuri Milner) has a full time former Goldman Sachs executive named Alexander Tamas living in Dubai. Tamas moved from Goldman Sachs to DST in London just months before Goldman Sachs received approximately $16 billion in taxpayer bailout funds, managed by President Obama's bailout appointee, Lawrence H. "Larry" Summers. Milner and Facebook COO Sheryl K. Sanders are protégés of Summers from his World Bank days in the early 1990's. Within about six months of the bailout, some $3 billion flowed in from Milner/DST and others overseas to purchase Facebook insider stock. Zuckerberg's former speech writer says in Boy Kings that the Facebook employees were strongly encouraged to sell, then they were effectively muzzled (Katherine Losse, 2012: "no one asked if the Russian's money was clean . . . no one wanted or was allowed to know") when they questioned these dubious Russian transactions. American investors were locked out. All coincidences, of course.

Judges who accept bribes and givers of bribes should go to jail. For example, former attorney Paul Minor and former judges Wes Teel and John Whitfield are serving sentences for corruption and racketeering after Minor backed loans to the judges in exchange for favorable court rulings. See "Corrupt Mississippi Judges and Former-Attorney who Bribed them Head Back to Prison. Bad Lawyer, Jun. 14, 2011.

FACEBOOK'S OFFER TO THE LEADER V. FACEBOOK JUDGES: STOCK VALUE APPRECIATION IN EXCHANGE FOR A FAVORABLE RULING?

Given the way in which the Federal Circuit decisions were timed to Facebook-friendly events, like the beginning of their IPO road show, and a national Fox Business interview with Leader's Michael McKibben, the Court-Facebook love-fest is apparent. Of course, they say its all coincidence. Yeh, right.

Promises of Facebook stock appreciation from the IPO in exchange for a favorable Leader v. Facebook ruling would be a strong motive for corruption, especially if you are arrogant enough to think no one can touch you. How is that different from Paul Minor loaning judges money to pay their debts? Did these Leader v. Facebook judges seriously think we would not notice?

If one is tempted to doubt how widespread judicial corruption is, read this from the U.S. Department of Justice's website:

"Bribery is endemic to our courts, because those persons vested with authority to prosecute judicial bribery are indifferent. They fail to do their job."

WALL OF SHAME

In addition to public outrage and shaming (which is growing in popularity given the lack of self-policing in the legal community), the Senate and House Judiciary Committees, as well as other committees, like the House Committee on Government Reform, are the primary legislative checks and balances.

David Luban writes "Equality before the law, like universal suffrage, holds a privileged place in our political system, and to deny equality before the law delegitimizes that system. . . . when these rights are denied, the expectation that the affronted parties should continue to respect the political system . . . that they should continue to treat it as a legitimate political system--has no basis." Lawyers and Justice: An Ethical Study, 251, 264-66 n.12 (Princeton Univ. Press, 1988).

LEADER V. FACEBOOK—THE MOST EGREGIOUS EXAMPLE OF JUDICIAL CORRUPTION EVER? A VERITABLE FACEBOOK LOVE-FEST.

We have before us in Leader v. Facebook perhaps the most egregious example of judicial corruption in the history of American jurisprudence.

We have a federal district court judge Leonard P. Stark permitting Facebook to add significant new claims (too late; at least by the Rules) while denying Leader time to prepare their defenses to those new claims. We have this same Judge Stark who ignored two of his own key jury instructions, and ignored the jury's own words to him that they made their on-sale bar decision against Leader without evidence.

This same judge effectively practiced bait-and-switch by first instructing Leader's attorneys to answer Interrogatory No. 9 only in the 2009 present tense, but then allowed the jury to interpret it in the past tense anyway. In short, he handed Facebook attorneys the exact confusing answer they needed to confuse the jury. Did we mention that he permitted Facebook to show the jury a heavily doctored Interrogatory No. 9 (60% was blanked out) at trial and denied Leader's request to show the un-doctored version?

We have a Federal Circuit panel of three judges (Alan D. Lourie, Kimberly A. Moore, Evan J. Wallach, along with Randall R. Rader and Clerk Jan Horbaly) who did not disqualify themselves since some of them held stock in Facebook while Facebook went public in the largest tech IPO in US history—during the Leader v. Facebook appeal. We have this same panel ignoring the English definition of "is" and legal applications of verb tense, and utterly ignoring their own tests of the evidence.

Did we mention that the Federal Circuit's own opinion debunked all of Facebook's evidence by the time it was all said and done. Even they could not uphold Facebook's fabricated "evidence."

Not to be deterred from the Facebook love-fest, did we mention that the Federal Circuit panel then fabricated whole new arguments for Facebook in secret after Facebook's arguments fell apart?

America needs to practice what it preaches.

We have no business lecturing the world about free enterprise and the rule of law, when we permit the investors in Ohio-based innovator Leader Technologies to go uncompensated for the risks they took to help invent social networking . . .

—a technology stolen by the "Facebook Cabal" who recruited the federal courts and Patent Office into their club of corruption.

Did we mention that the panel did not give Leader a chance to challenge these new arguments?

Did we mention that the clerk's staffer Valerie White said the judges could not have seen, much less considered the arguments in a friend of the court motion supporting Leader before it was denied by her boss, Clerk of Court Horbaly? Did we mention this same clerk is tight with Facebook's chief appeals lawyer Thomas G. Hungar of Gibson Dunn LLP who also represents one of Facebook's largest shareholders, Microsoft?

Did we mention that the courts ignored damning new evidence that Mark Zuckerberg had withheld 28 hard drives from Leader before the trial? New testimony in another case indicates that these hard drives might prove that Zuckerberg had Leader's actual source code—that's potentially criminal and would have raised the stakes in the trial dramatically.

Did we mention that The Federal Circuit Bar Association and the Clerk of Courts collaborated to file a motion absolving the judges of their conflicts of interest, only to withdraw it secretly once their scheme was exposed? This motion was chock full of easily provable false and misleading statements.

Several grassroots movements are developing to press this case until justice is served. They are drafting a set of criteria for what qualities a judge to be on the Wall of Shame:

1. Their corruption is based on publicly available facts.

3. They have a conflict of interest that breaches the Code of Conduct for federal judges.
4. They have ignored material new evidence.
5. They have made false statements.
6. They have violated Fifth and 14th Amendment due process

GIBSON DUNN LLP exposed as one of the most corrupt law firms in America

Investigative Reporter Julia Davis investigates Facebook's Leader v. Facebook attorney Gibson Dunn LLP. She credits this firm with the reason why not a single Wall Street banker has gone to jail since 2008. Click here to read her article "Everybody hates whistleblowers." Examiner.com, Apr. 10, 2012. Here's an excerpt:

"Skillful manipulation of the firm's extensive media connections allows Gibson Dunn to promote their causes, while simultaneously smearing their opponents and silencing embarrassing news coverage."

This statement followed right after Davis cited Facebook's chief inside counsel in the Leader v. Facebook case, Theodore Ulyot, who appears to have helped lead the Leader v. Should Facebook users voluntarily pay user license fees to Leader in a citizens' movement to do the right thing since the courts have forsaken our laws and respect for property rights?

Interesting solution.

OPEN QUESTION TO FACEBOOK USERS: VOLUNTARILY PAY LEADER A LICENSE FEE FOR YOUR USE OF THEIR TECHNOLOGY THAT FACEBOOK HAS STOLEN?

What do you say Facebook users? If someone gave you the keys to a car to use freely, then told you six months later that the car was stolen, would you keep using the car? At the very least, wouldn't you want to pay the car owner for the privilege of continued use of his car?

These libel lawsuits by judges should be allowed to run their course. It's a two-edged sword for a crooked judge. He or she may be counting on an early settlement to maintain his or her ruse. However, if the allegations are true, then discovery should unearth the truth. I would love to see the phone records and meeting logs of these judges' contacts with Facebook attorneys, not to mention their bank accounts and Homeland Security's reports on their foreign holdings and those of their family members. We can already see that Judges Moore and Lourie (and probably others, not to mention their families) had Facebook stock during the Leader case. That alone is enough to impeach IMHO, especially since they were asked to disclose their holdings and other conflicts. It is inconceivable that no one in the Federal Circuit, or their families, did not invest in the Facebook IPO. Proving just one who invested will invalidate the En Banc denial and the entire Federal Circuit opinion in this case.

According to ALLIANCE FOR JUSTICE information about Judge Evan J. Wallach:

"From 1987-1988 he worked as General Counsel and Public Policy Advisor to Senator Harry Reid." [1]

Harry Reid seems to have no problems with duplicity and lining one's family's pockets, as was reported by AFI in a "Postscript AFI Editorial." [2]

Harry Reid's son-in-law Steven G Barringer lobbied for a Henderson, Nev. development that Reid grandfathered into the 2009 Omnibus Act. Harry Reid's son Josh is now the city attorney for Henderson.

Did Judge Wallach learn his craft all too well from the Senate Majority leader? Is that why he is so sure the Senate Judiciary Committee won't investigate him?

It just struck me while the Federal Circuit is sick. It was the creation in 1982 by, of and for attorneys. It's purpose seemed like a good idea at the time, namely to populate it with judges who know patents. However, what it lacked was any semblance of accountability other than to itself. That was a prescription for corruption. The founders implemented a system of checks and balances. The attorneys who framed the Federal Circuit's charter built a self-serving entity that is now rife with corruption, lack of accountability and no checks and balances??? Worse, many of the new appointees don't even know patents, like Judge Evan J. Wallach on the Leader v. Facebook panel.

OUR MISSION

American citizens must fight abuse of the constitutional right for authors and inventors to enjoy the fruits of their inventions, as a matter of matter of basic property rights and sound public policy. Otherwise, instead of innovation, creativity, genius, ideas, vision, courage, entrepreneurship, respect, property, rejuvenation, morals, ethics, values, renewal, truth, facts, rights, privacy, solutions and judicial faithfulness,

. . . our society and economy will be dragged down (and eventually destroyed) by copying, infringement, thievery, counterfeiting, hacking, greed, misinformation, exploitation, abuse, waste, disrespect, falsity, corruption, bribery, coercion, intimidation, doublespeak, misconduct, lies, deception, attorney "dark arts," destruction, confusion, dishonesty, judicial chicanery and lawlessness.

If we do not speak up, impeach derelict judges and imprison corrupt attorneys, we cannot possibly hope to start fixing the current ills in our society. Without justice and respect for private property, democracy has no sure foundation.

Right on Peanuts! When you consider that the Federal Circuit handles ALL U.S. Patent Office appeals, you see a corrupt and scandalously unaccountable TRIFECTA among: (1) corrupt attorneys, (2) corrupt patent office directors and examiners, and (3) a corrupt patent appeals court. Its a formula for friggin disaster. We are seeing that disaster in living color in the Leader v. Facebook scandal. Speaking of corrupt trifectas, what's the status of Facebook's USPTO-Director-ordered 3rd reexam BTW?

Anybody know how Fenwick & West's Christopher P. King aka Christopher-Charles King is holding up in their shell game at the patent office having not disclosed Leader's patents as prior art in the Facebook patent family? LOL

The Federal Circuit BARFED AND LAUGHED ALL OVER these guidelines on judicial disqualification from the FEDERAL JUDICIAL CENTER:

"even the smallest financial interest (e.g., ownership of a single share of stock) requires disqualification. Under § 455(c), it is a judge's duty to keep abreast of all of his or her financial interests."

Do ya think Judges Moore and Lourie had at least a "single" share in Facebook between their five or ten funds. Do you think it is possible that NONE of the Federal Circuit judges purchased stock in Facebook during the IPO? Did ANY of them disclose and disqualify? Nope. This is outrageous conduct from people we are supposed to trust.

Judge Evan J. Wallach speaks with forked tongue. He denied Leader Technologies their rights and their property, and abused the Code of Conduct for United States Judges in Leader v. Facebook. HOWEVER, in 2005 he self-righteously called for accountability when he criticized the U.S. military and Bush Administration regarding the mistreatment of prisoners in Abu Graib. He wrote:

"Our values are non-negotiable for members of our profession. They are what a professional military force represents to the world. Those who do battle with monsters must take care that they do not thereby become a monster. Always remember that when you gaze into the abyss, the abyss gazes back into you . . . The abyss is gazing back at us." Pages 537, 538, 621.

"In the civilian context, where government officials operate under the color of law have entered into an agreement to violate federal law, all persons who joined in that agreement are liable for all reasonably foreseeable violations of law which were done in its furtherance." Pages 618-619.

OK Judge Wallach, your LEADER V. FACEBOOK MONSTERS are staring at you. Are you going to do the right thing, or are you just another moral hypocrite who likes to hear himself pontificate?

I suspect the later. Prove me wrong.

We are an opinion blog that advocates for strong intellectual property rights. We welcome commenters and contributors. The Leader v. Facebook patent infringement case first came to our attention after learning that the trial judge, Leonard P. Stark, U.S. District Court of Delaware, ignored his jury's admission that they had no evidence to support their on-sale bar verdict, but the judge supported it anyway.

The judicial misconduct has deteriorated from there, replete with two of the three judges on the Federal Circuit appeal panel, Judges Alan D. Lourie and Kimberly A. Moore, holding Facebook stock that they did not disclose to the litigants, and later tried to excuse through a quick motion slipped in at the last minute by the Clerk of Court, Jan Horbaly, and his close friends at The Federal Circuit Bar Association. (The DC Bar subsequently revealed that Mr. Horbaly is not licensed to practice law in Washington D.C.)

The judges ignored shocking new evidence that Mark Zuckerberg withheld 28 hard drives of 2003-2004 evidence from Leader Technologies that could prove actual theft (and therefore claims even more serious than infringement). In addition, Facebook's appeal attorney, Thomas G. Hungar of Gibson Dunn LLP, has close personal ties to just about every judicial player in this story. The misconduct appears to reach into the U.S. Patent Office through abuse of the reexamination process by Facebook. We will stay focused on Leader v. Facebook until justice is served, but we also welcome news and analysis of intellectual property abuse in other cases as well.

So, we were on Facebook this Saturday past (2/2/13), following Lawless America (great blog, by the way). During a conversation with other followers of the blog I posted a brief synopsis of Leader Technologies' fight. I left for a bit and came back to check on any responses, and my comment was gone. I inquired as to its disappearance, but they had neither knowledge nor control over any editing.

"SO, WHY DID IT DISAPPEAR?!!"

They had an open phone line, that night, for callers to call in and give their stories of any legal problems or corruption that they had either encountered, or to complain about lawyers, judges, and the like. Anyhow, I started to repost my thoughts about our case. I wanted to tell them about Facebook and how they corrupted the judicial process (apparently Facebook doesn't like truths being spread about them and their true origins). I was promptly greeted with a spam warning, threatening to block me or shut my Facebook account down if I didn't acknowledge or agree to stop. Fearing a snooping Trojan, I quickly logged out without acknowledging anything.

As I am sure many on this site are aware, Facebook is obviously trolling their users' pages and other sites for info or key words. These are nefarious, dirty people and are always looking over their shoulders!

Stay the course everyone!

THEODORE W. ULLYOT, Facebook's General Legal Counsel, who oversaw the Leader v. Facebook judicial scandal, sorry, patent infringement case, appears to be dumping his stock:

Here's the SEC Insider Trading Report for Theodore Warren Ulylot:

Let's see, if this judicial misconduct was motivated by Facebook's law firms, directed by Mr. Ulylot, do you think the fingers might point to him? However, we all know he is only a puppet for the board of directors led by James W. Breyer, Yuri Milner (DST Moscow) and Sheryl Sandberg... the last two being bailout director Larry Summers' understudies. Hmhmhmhm.

COVER-UP AT THE US PATENT OFFICE: AFI has just received a copy of a recent Freedom of Information response just issued by the Patent Office in the growing judicial corruption scandal. As you can see for yourself, the USPTO literally covered up all disclosure of information regarding their order of a 3rd reexamination of Leader Technologies' U.S. Patent No. 7,139,761.

As a refresher, Facebook lost these arguments at trial. Then, they have lost them again, twice, during two earlier re-examinations. Not even the Patent Examiner Deandra M. Hughes approves of this 3rd reexam order.

The scent of foul play is strong. This document can be obtained in two places:

This kind of cover-up is precisely what occurs when a government agency believes itself to be no longer accountable to the citizens who fund their very existence. Congratulations to whoever dug this up. Now we're getting somewhere. Everyone on this blog should use this material and request their own Congressional Inquiries from their Congresspersons and Freedom of Information Act requests. Suggest you ask to see all communications among every person identified on those USPTO messages and anyone on the list of Facebook cronies.

Each of you should ask them each to disclose whether they hold Facebook stock either directly or through an investment vehicle like a mutual fund, IRA, Keogh, etc. Be sure to personalize your request with unique requests so that the USPTO cannot send a form letter response, like they did the last time.

Make noise folks. It works. Bad guys don't like the light of day.

Just so everyone is clear, USPTO matters are overseen by federal judges too, they're called "Administrative Patent Judges."

In the Leader v. Facebook 3rd examination, they are:

Judge Allen R. MacDonald
Judge Stephen C. Siu
Judge Meredith C. Petravick

These judges are also bound by the Code of Conduct for United States Judges.

They should be asked to disclose whether they hold stock in Facebook, or whether any of their family members own stock. If they do, even a small amount, they are bound by the Code of Conduct to disqualify themselves.

I was just reading the COMMUNIST MANIFESTO today written by Karl Marx and Friedrich Engels in 1848. Ran across these Communist objectives:

1. Abolition of property
2. Heavy progressive graduated income tax
- ...
4. Centralization of credit... by means of a national bank
5. Centralization of the means of communication
- ...
6. Free education for all children

Wow, do these planks sound contemporary? Read for yourself a summary in Wikipedia at:

Leader v. Facebook is exposing:

1. Abolition of property - denying property rights to the holder of a valid U.S. Patent - rights guaranteed in Article I Section 8 of the US Constitution.
4. Centralization of credit - Facebook Credits (oh wait, they claim the aren't doing this anymore, yeh right).
5. Centralization of communications - Facebook and their scandal-ridden theft of Leader Technologies inventions; ripping off user privacy and shipping it to China, Russia and India.

... three out of your six Light Reader.

The other three are being pushed actively by the current administration, it appears to me. Of course, there is nothing inherently wrong with free education, but as the Soviet Union learned, it works for a while as a means of political indoctrination, until it falls apart from within due to its moral bankruptcy.

Looks like those die-hard communists are back in the saddle, now in business suits, allied with the Thieving Gangs in Silicon Valley - who sold their immortal souls to the highest borscht-breath bidders.

Judge Evan J. Wallach, U.S. Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit, member of the three-judge panel in Leader Techs v. Facebook, Inc., 678 F.3d 1300 (Fed. Cir. 2012).

Judge Wallach is not a patent attorney. This begs the question as to why a judge with no knowledge of patent law was assigned to the case. Would anyone ask a dentist to perform brain surgery? The Federal Circuit was specially formed to appoint patent-knowledgeable judges to patent cases. There is no evidence so far in the judicial disclosures that Judge Wallach holds stock in Facebook, although when he was asked on a motion to disclose potential Facebook holdings and other conflicts of interest, he refused along with the other judges. See Motion to Disclose Conflicts of Interest.

Judge Wallach continued in silence even after Clerk of Court

Summers was Chief Economist for the World Bank in the early 1990's.

Curiously,

Summers was President of Harvard when Zuckerberg got his start in 2003-2004. Explains how the 19-yr. old received more press coverage than all other world figures except Clinton and Bush in THE HARVARD CRIMSON. They're layin' down the spin, dude.

Summers proposed the failed economic transition policy in the USSR that gave birth to the current oligarch robber barons in Russia.

Summers is teamed with one of the Russian oligarchs through his protege Yuri Milner, second largest investor in Facebook.

Summers is teamed with Facebook through his protege Sheryl Sandberg, Chief Operating Officer at Facebook and Zuckerberg's puppetmaster.

Summers friends at Goldman Sachs put an executive in London before the 2008 bailout with a big basket to catch theirs and Morgan Stanley's $32 billion windfall from the bailout. That executive now works for Yuri Milner in Dubai.

Summers arranged to have himself appointed as "special adviser" to Marc Andreessen just weeks before the scandalous $1 billion purchase of Instagram by Facebook right before the IPO. Milner's and Sandberg's payoff? Their "thank you" for the years of tutelage in how to organize global corruption?

Milner was associated in the early 2000's with Bank Menatep that was caught laundering over $10 billion in mob money and diverting over $4 billion in IMF funds (probably World Bank funds too, according to some reports).

The list of kinky-dinks is much longer, these are only highlights
