AT A CONFERENCE on the subject of Emigration as a means of relief for the distress prevailing amongst unemployed workmen, their families, held at the Mansion-house on WEDNESDAY, February 10, 1869.

The Right Hon. the LORD MAYOR, M.P., in the Chair.

1. It was moved by Sir THOMAS FOWELL BUXTON, Bart.; seconded by the Hon. WILLIAM FITZGERBERT, Treasurer of New Zealand; and resolved unanimously—
That this meeting is of opinion that affording assistance in emigration to British subjects, under proper regulations, is a satisfactory method of relieving the distress existing amongst unemployed workmen and their families.

2. It was moved by the Right Hon. the Lord NORTHBROOK; seconded by DAVID SALOMONS, Esq., Alderman, M.P., and resolved unanimously—
That a subscription be entered into with the view of extending the operations of the East-end Emigration and Relief Committee to any districts in which such distress may be apparent, and especially for immediately relieving by emigration the pressing need amongst the unemployed at Woolwich.

3. It was moved by ALEX. C. BARCLAY, Esq., M.P.; seconded by ALFRED DE ROTHSCHILD, Esq.; and resolved with acclamation—

This will be followed by a large party to Canada, and the Committee hope to keep up the emigration to the Dominion fortnightly or monthly, as soon as the steamers commence running from the Thames to Quebec.

EMIGRATION TO VENEZUELAN GUAYANA.
INTENDING EMIGRANTS, TAKE NOTICE.

THE CHARTERED AMERICAN, ENGLISH, and VENEZUELAN TRADING and COMMERCIAL COMPANY are now prepared to Sell Freehold Land in the "Price Grant" in Venezuelan Guayana, South America, at the low scale—

100 Acres	£25 0s.
50 "	17 10s.
25 "	12 10s.
10 "	8 0s.
5 "	4 0s.

The country is healthy, salubrious, and extremely fertile, and only 17 days distant from England by steamer, and about 30 days by sailing vessel. Baron Von Humboldt has described this country as the "Garden Spot of the World," and also asserts "that one acre in Guayana will produce equal to 30 in England," and is capable of producing three crops of cotton per year, and yields, with slight cultivation, extraordinary crops of maize, wheat, oats, barley, fruits of all kinds, &c. Its gold mines are also very rich, as recent surveys have proved. No one can enter this "Price Grant" unless they have the permission or sanction of this Company. Those who bring satisfactory proof that they are unable to pay for their land in full, an easymode of doing so will be granted them.

For full particulars apply to the Venezuelan Consulates everywhere, or to JAS. FREDK. PATTERSON, 3, The Crescent, America Square, E.C., London.

N.B.—For description of the country, soil, climate, products, &c., see "The Emigrant's Vade Mecum, or Guide to the 'Price Grant' in Venezuelan Guayana," published by Messrs. Trubner and Co., 60, Paternoster Row, E.C., London, and sold by all Booksellers and News-vendors.

EMIGRATION TO VENEZUELA GUAYANA.

INTENDING EMIGRANTS, TAKE NOTICE

THE CHARTERED AMERICAN, ENGLISH, and VENEZUELAN TRADING and COMMERCIAL COMPANY are now prepared to Sell Freehold Land in the "Price Grant" in Venezuelan Guayana, South America, at the low scale of-

100 Acres £25 0s.

100 Acres 17 10s.

50 Acres 12 10s.

25 Acres 8 0s.

10 Acres 4 0s.

The country is healthy, salubrious, and extremely fertile, and only 17 days distant from England by steamer, and about 30 day by sailing vessel. Baron Von Humboldt had described this country as the "Garden Spot of the World" and also asserts "that one acre in Guayana will produced equal to 30 in England," and is capable of producing three crops of cotton per year, and yields, with slight cultivation, extraordinary crops of maize [Amer. corn], wheat, oats, barley, fruits of all kinds, &c. Its gold mines are also very rich, as recent surveys have proved. No one can enter the "Price Grant" unless they have the permission and sanction of this Company. Those who bring satisfactory proof that they are unable to pay for their land in full, an easy mode of doing so will be granted them.

For full particulars apply to the Venezuelan Consulates everywhere, or to JAS. FREDK. PATTISON, 3, The Crescent, America Square, E.C. London.

N.B.-For description of the country, soil, climate, products, &c., see "The Emigrant's Vade Mecum, or Guide to the 'Price Grant' in Venezuelan Guayana," published by Messrs. Trubner and Co., 60 Paternoster Row, E.C., London, and sold by all Booksellers and Newsvendors.

AT A CONFERENCE on the subject of Emigration as a means of relief for the distress prevailing amongst unemployed workmen and their families, held at the Mansion-house on WEDNESDAY, February 10, 1869:

The Right Hon. the LORD MAYOR, M.P., in the Chair.
1. It was moved by SIR THOMAS FOWELL BUXTON, Bart.:
seconded by the Hon. WILLIAM FITZGERALD, Treasurer of New Zealand; and resolved unanimously:—
That this meeting is of opinion that affording assistance in emigration to British colonies, under proper precautions, is a satisfactory method of relieving the distress existing amongst deserving unemployed workpeople and their families.
2. It was moved by the Right Hon. the LORD NORTHBROOK:
seconded by DAVID SALOMONS, Esq., Alderman, M.P., and resolved unanimously:—
That a subscription be entered into with the view of extending the operations of the East-end Emigration and Relief Committee to any districts in which such distress may be apparent, and especially for immediately relieving the distressing pressure now amongst the unemployed at Woolwich.
3. It was moved by ALEX. C. BARCLAY, Esq., M.P.; seconded by ALFRED DE ROTHSCHILD, Esq.; and resolved with acclamation:—

That the thanks of this meeting be tendered to the Right Hon.
the Lord Mayor for his kindness in presiding at the Conference.
The Committee have accordingly resolved to alter the title of the Association to one better representing the extended sphere of its proposed operations, and for the future it will be known as the British and Colonial Emigration Fund.
In addition to the 900 emigrants assisted to Canada, a small party of emigrants has already been sent from Woolwich to Queensland, and arrangements are making for the despatch of another at the end of the present month. This will be followed by a large party to Canada, and the Committee hope to keep up the emigration to the Dominion fortnightly or monthly, as soon as the steamers commence running from the Thames to Quebec.

London, 22nd March, 1869.

SIR,—

We venture to bring under your notice, the enclosed resolutions, unanimously passed at a Conference on Emigration, recently held at the Mansion House, together with a copy of the application paper in use by our Committee, and some other documents issued under our authority, in the hope that your Government may be inclined to afford the Society pecuniary and other assistance in the promotion of emigration to your Colony.

You will see that we exercise great precaution in the selection of emigrants, and that our system is that of reciprocity, believing as we do, that the assistance of deserving unemployed workmen and their families in their desire to emigrate, is an advantage both to this country and British Colonies.

Should your Government aid us in our undertaking, we promise that your wishes in respect to the persons selected for assistance shall have our earnest consideration, and that the emigrants aided from our fund shall have the approval of your accredited Emigration Agent here, or any your Government may appoint, before their embarkation.

We shall be extremely glad of any information from you upon the important question of how far our surplus labour may be rendered available in your country, and what facilities you can afford in settling any emigrants we may send you.

Trusting that this effort to improve the condition of our deserving unemployed workmen and their families, and to benefit British Colonies, may commend itself to your Government, and that we may receive your assistance and support,

We are, &c.,

OUTFIT—(AUSTRALIA).

The following is a list of the principal articles required for an outfit to Australia; but it cannot be too strongly impressed, as a general rule, that the more abundant the stock of clothing each person can afford to take, the better for health and comfort during the passage:—

Single Man's Outfit to Australia.

Two beaverteen jackets, 1 to be warm lined; 2 beaverteen trousers, 1 to be warm lined; 1 waistcoat with sleeves, to be warm lined; 1 blanket overcoat; 1 waistcoat without sleeves; 2 duck frocks; 2 duck trousers; 1 Scotch cap, or thresher's hat; 1 Brazil straw hat; 6 striped cotton shirts; 1 pair boots,* 1 pair shoes; 4 handkerchiefs; 4 worsted hose; 2 cotton hose; 1 pair braces; 4 towels; razor, shaving box, and glass.

Woman's Outfit to Australia.

One warm cloak with a cape; 2 bonnets; 1 small shawl; 1 stuff dress; 2 print dresses; 6 shifts; 2 flannel petticoats; 1 stuff petticoat; 2 twill cotton petticoats; 1 pair of stays; 4 pocket handkerchiefs; 2 net ditto for neck; 3 caps; 4 night-caps; 4 sleeping jackets; 2 black worsted hose; 4 cotton hose; 2 pairs of shoes; 6 towels.

Each person would also require,—

One knife and fork; 1 deep tin plate; 1 pint tin drinking mug; 1 table-spoon; 1 tea-spoon; 2 lbs. of Marine soap; 1 comb and hair brush; 3 sheets: 2 pots blacking; 2 shoe brushes; 1 counterpane; 1 pair of blankets; 1 strong chest, with lock. A married couple require only one set of these articles.

Cost of above outfit for a single man, about £5; for single women, about £5; for married couple, about £9.

The cost of an outfit for children varies with their size. Generally speaking, three children under seven, or two between that age and fourteen, may be clothed for about £5; but a well-grown girl or boy of thirteen years of age will cost nearly as much as an adult.

OUTFIT (CANADA).

Luggage, Clothing, Tools, &c.

Luggage should be in compact, handy packages, distinctly marked with the owner's name and destination. The enormous quantities of useless luggage brought out by emigrants cause heavy expenses and trouble, and in many cases the cost of cartage, portorage, and extra freight exceeds its value. The personal effects of emigrants are not liable to duty.

CLOTHING.—Woollen clothing and all descriptions of wearing apparel, flannels, blankets, bedding, and house linen, &c., are much cheaper in England than in Canada, and wherever it is practicable the emigrant should lay in a good stock before leaving home.

TOOLS.—Agricultural labourers need not bring out any tools, as these can be easily procured in the country. Mechanics are recommended to take such tools as they may possess. But both classes must bear in mind that there is no difficulty in procuring any ordinary tools in the principal towns, on reasonable terms; and that it is more desirable to have the means of purchasing what they want after reaching their destination than to be encumbered with a large quantity of luggage during the journey into the interior.

Recommendation of Selecting Committee.

We have seen and examined the within-named applicant, have instituted inquiries respecting his character, and recommend him for the assistance of the fund on the following terms:—

Enclosure 3 in No. 1.

THE EAST-END EMIGRATION AND RELIEF FUND.

From THE TIMES, 5th January, 1869.

SIR,—

It having been suggested that the Committee of this fund should publish a statement of the method on which they proceed in the selection of emigrants, &c., I venture to trouble you with the following:—

1. The Committee have an office in the High Street, Poplar, where information is afforded to all persons desirous of assistance either in emigrating or migrating to other parts of the country to work. At this office notices are posted of sailing of ships, their destination, &c., and a register is kept of persons desirous of emigrating; to these, also, application papers are issued, whenever there is probability of the Committee being able to select and despatch a party of emigrants.

2. A Committee of Selection, consisting of Mr. Henry Green, jun., Mr. E. H. Currie, Mr. James Self, Mr. Bullivant, the Rev. J. F. Kitto, &c., who are all well acquainted with the district and its poor population, and some of whom are large employers of labour, meet, as occasion requires, for the selection of the people. The applicants, with their families, then appear before this Board with their application papers, letters of recommendation, and marriage certificates, and recently, in all cases, a letter from the last employer of each head of the family has been required, testifying to the applicant being a fit person for the benefit of the fund, and that he has not refused work or been on strike, but is absolutely thrown out of employ through slackness of trade. Finally, in any cases which appear at all doubtful, personal inquiry is instituted by the Clerk of the Committee.

* For use on the voyage, shoes or slippers are much more convenient than boots. The following is a cheap and excellent composition for preserving leather from the bad effects of sea-water: Linseed oil, 1 gill; spirit of turpentine, 1 oz.; bee's wax, 1 oz.; Burgundy pitch, $\frac{1}{2}$ oz.; to be well melted together and kept covered in a gallipot; lay it on boots or shoes, rubbing it in well, and set them in a hot sun or before the fire.

3. Every care is taken that the persons selected are well adapted to the requirements of the Colony to which they are sent. Their health is strictly inquired into, and, as the application paper shows, medical certificates are required. The proportion of children and young people of both sexes is also regulated by the Committee of Selection, who, I may add, generally see a party of emigrants two or three times before finally selecting and despatching them.

The outfits, berthing of the people, and all other arrangements, are attended to at this office of selection.

4. A list of the emigrants selected is then sent to the General Committee for approval, and this list is carefully looked over and revised, if considered necessary or advisable, in respect to the occupation of the intending emigrants, so as to meet any expressed requirements of the Colonial authorities. Finally, this list is transmitted to the Colonial Immigration Agents, to prepare them for the arrival of the people, and facilitate their being properly placed on reaching the Colony.

I have only to add that we have found this method of selection work well.

May I mention here that the Committee are greatly in need of funds? We have now an opportunity of sending a small party of emigrants to Australia at small cost—something about £300—but have not the money.

Enclosure 4 in No. 1.

PAUPER EMIGRATION.

To the Editor of the DAILY NEWS.

SIR,—

The attention of the public having been recently directed to the question of "Pauper Emigration," I venture to trouble you with some remarks on the subject, as my experience in working the "East-End Emigration and Relief Fund" has shown me the great difficulties in the way of its successful promotion. First, the expense is too great. Every adult pauper sent to Canada (which is the cheapest colonial transit) would cost for passage and outfit £7 or £8 at the very lowest; but this is not all. The Canadian Government have lately set their face against any pauper immigration. Now, under such circumstances, although it may be possible to land paupers at Quebec, the promoters of any such scheme will certainly receive no assistance from the Government of the Dominion, and would therefore have to make their own arrangements for the reception, keep, and disposal of the people. I doubt very much whether these could be effected under an additional £5 per head, which would raise the cost of every pauper adult to £12 or £13—a very large sum, and one which, I take it, no Board of Guardians would readily expend for the purpose. Again, the hostility of the Government of the Dominion would be greatly, and perhaps justly, excited were they threatened with a scheme of "Pauper Emigration," and it is very questionable whether it is wise to call this out. Perhaps, with these facts in mind, the advocates of "Pauper Emigration" may turn their attention to Australia. The prospect there, however, is not more cheering for them; they would certainly get neither encouragement nor assistance from any of the Governments. The expenses of passage and outfit would, of course, be more—probably about £18 or £20—and I doubt whether any pauper could be placed in the country under an outlay of at least £25. My opinion, therefore, is that under the present circumstances, and in the face of the hostile views of the Governments of our Colonies upon this subject, a system of "Pauper Emigration" is impracticable. There is, however, a class to which emigration is the greatest blessing—one which we may advantageously assist, and which our Colonies will, I believe, very gladly receive—viz., deserving unemployed workmen and their families.

The commercial crisis of 1866 had the effect of throwing a multitude out of work who had been previously attracted to the metropolis by the various employments offered in iron ship-building, house-building, dock labour, &c., in all of which occupations there were high rates of wages. The previous commercial credit had given to these works great stimulus, and it is to be feared there was much overtrading and speculation in them. The crisis came, breaking down some of the rich, and an innumerable horde of the labouring class. Trade has not revived, many of the occupations for labour in the east of London have ceased altogether, and the bread-earners in them are fast sinking—some have already sunk—into the pauper condition; whilst others amongst them, more energetic, by hook or by crook, and with assistance from the various relief committees, have managed as yet to keep their heads above water. To such, and the families of such men especially, emigration is a mercy. We can spare them, the Colonies want them, and the cost of sending them is small, because the Colonial Governments will assist in conveying and receiving them.

The Committee of the "East-End Emigration and Relief Fund" have now helped 900 of this class to emigrate—the bulk of whom have been sent to Canada, at a cost of from £5 to £6 per head; others have been assisted to Australia, at a cost of about £8; whilst some have been helped out at as low a rate as £3 or £4. There are numbers of unemployed recently discharged from the Royal Arsenal at Woolwich, to whom emigration presents just now the only hope, and the announcement of the approaching close of the Dockyard affords but a dull prospect of future employment for labour in that locality.

I rejoice to say that we have been able to assist some of them, and hope still further to aid others, in their desire to reach lands in which there is work for their willing hands. In promoting emigration, sir, what we must seek for is reciprocity. Hitherto it has been conducted on one-sided principles only. Formerly it was considered that anything we could send was good enough; more recently and now, the Colonists are somewhat fastidious about the article. If we show the Home and Colonial Governments that we can be really useful to each, we are in the right road. Our deserving unemployed workmen and their families may safely be assisted to, and will be gladly welcomed by, our Colonies—not so paupers.

J. STANDISH HALY.
