

The British
NEWSPAPER
Archive

SIR ARTHUR CONAN DOYLE IN ABERDEEN.

Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, the well-known author, arrived in Aberdeen yesterday, and will address a great meeting in the Music Hall to night on Spiritualism.

The creator of Sherlock Holmes, the most famous of modern detective heroes, the expert criminologist, whose championship of convicted men has led to the ultimate overturning of verdicts, and Sir A. Conan Doyle the writer of a host of popular novels, is to-night to plead the cause of "Spiritualism," which he has done so much lately to bring into public prominence. Indeed, Miss J. T. Stoddart in her work giving "The Case against Spiritualism" remarks that "owing to the propagandist activities of Sir Oliver Lodge, Sir W. F. Barrett, and Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, the cult of Spiritualism has received a new advertisement, and is proving itself, in certain quarters, a rival to Christianity."

TRANSCRIPTION:

SIR ARTHUR CONAN DOYLE IN ABERDEEN. Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, the well-known author, arrived Aberdeen yesterday, and will address a great meeting in the Music Hall to night on Spiritualism.

The creator of Sherlock Holmes, the most famous of modern detective heroes, expert criminologist, whose championship convicted men has led to the ultimate overturning of verdicts, and Sir A. Conan Doyle the writer of a host of popular novels, is to-night to plead the cause of "Spiritualism," which he has done so much lately bring into public prominence. Indeed, Miss J. T. Stoddart in her work giving "The Case against Spiritualism" remarks that "owing to the propagandist activities of Sir Oliver Lodge, Sir W F Barrett, and Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, the cult of Spiritualism has received a new advertisement, and is proving itself, in certain quarters, rival to Christianity."

