

Portland Wedding Of Local Interest

The first bride of the year in Portland was Miss Caroline Ladd Corbett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elliott Ruggles Corbett, whose marriage to Ivison Stevenson Macadam of London and Edinburgh was beautifully solemnized yesterday afternoon at the Corbett home in Dunthorpe.

Rev. William G. Eliot read the service in the living room before the great bay window outlined with white chrysanthemums and heather. Tall standards of lighted white tapers flanked the window.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore her mother's wedding dress of ivory satin with court train and yoke of real lace. Her full lace veil, which had been worn by her great-grandmother, was caught about her head with sprays of orange blossoms. She carried a cascading bouquet of orchids and spring flowers.

Her four sisters, Misses Gretchen, Lesley, Alta and Lucy, were her only attendants. They all wore similar frocks of white taffeta, made with square necks, slight trains and bustles, and full, puffed sleeves. With them they wore small white taffeta hats and carried barrel muffs of corded white taffeta from which fell showers of pink bouvardia.

Whitney Shepardson of New York acted as best man for Mr. Macadam. Ushers were Henry Ladd Corbett, Hamilton F. Corbett, Lloyd Smith, Charles E. Miller, Thornton Ladd and Henry F. Cabell.

Presiding at the beautifully appointed tea table at the reception which followed were Mesdames Henry Ladd Corbett, Hamilton F. Corbett, Charles E. Miller, Thornton Ladd, Lloyd Smith, Mortimore H. Hartwell, Thomas Sharp, Whitney Shepardson, Henry F. Cabell and Miss Emma Sandord.

Mr. and Mrs. Macadam left last night for the east, where they will make a short visit before leaving about the middle of the month for London. They will be at home after February 1 at 6 York street, St. James, London, S.W. 1.

Mr. Macadam, who is secretary of the Royal Institute of International Affairs in London, is the son of the late Dr. and Mrs. Stevenson Macadam of Edinburgh. He was an English delegate to the conference of the Institute of Pacific relations in Banff last summer, where he met his bride who also attended the conference as a member of the American

LUCKY STRIKE

So round, so firm, so fully packed

no loose ends to spill out or cling to lips

On every fine tobacco plant there are only a few leaves that we buy for Lucky Strike. Not the top leaves—because they are under-developed. Not the bottom leaves—because they are inferior in quality. We select only the center leaves—because the center leaves are the mildest and fully ripe for perfect smoking. Only the center leaves are used in making Luckies—so round, so firm, so fully packed—free from loose ends that spill out, that cling to lips. Is it any wonder Luckies are mild and smooth? And remember, "It's named for the most protection—'for' finer taste."
