OSU BAND INVESTIGATION UNEARTHS SURPRISE TRUSTEE COLLUSION IN PATENT THEFT

BREAKING NEWS, SEP. 3, 2014, 10:05am

OSU TRUSTEE PRESIDENT, JEFFREY WADSWORTH, "COUNTERATTACKS" THE BAND ALUMNI LEADERSHIP

The OSU Trustee president, Jeffrey Wadsworth, the man whose Battelle Memorial Institute lobbyist, McBee Strategic, has 12 plum OSU contracts, including oversight over the new global learning system, MOOC, is now issuing false information to the press. The Trustees' PR machine stated that the Jon Waters action had been taken by the Trustees. However, the Trustees are saying privately that no such decision was ever made by the Trustees. Also, according to the ByLaws, Wadsworth has no executive authority, yet appears to have awarded himself privileges unilaterally. Why is Governor Kasich letting him get away with this lawlessness? Read TBDBITL Press Release.

BREAKING NEWS, SEP. 3, 2014, 5:28pm

WADSWORTH CRONY J.P.MORGAN TIED TO JUDGE & ATTORNEYS (FORMER CHRIS GLAROS EMPLOYER) IN LEADER V. FACEBOOK JUDICIAL MISCONDUCT

In more bizarre twists to this growing scandal, Internet pioneer Dr. Lakshmi Arunachalam just filed papers today in the Delaware District Court (Wilmington, Delaware) seeking to set aside a judgment against her patents on Internet transactions due to judge bias and fraud on the court. Click here to read the motion to vacate. She complains that three judges in her case, JUDGE RICHARD G. ANDREWS, JUDGE SUSAN L. ROBINSON and CHIEF JUDGE LEONARD P. STARK hold or should have known they hold large amounts of J.P. MORGAN stock, yet failed to disqualify themselves from Dr. Arunachalam's patent infringement lawsuit against J.P. Morgan. Judge Stark was the trial judge in Leader v. Facebook. Stark also holds large amounts of stock in FACEBOOK which he also failed to disclose during the trial.

OSU Trustee president JEFFREY WADSWORTH'S lobbyist MCBEE STRATEGIC also lobbies for J.P. Morgan and is partners with Facebook's attorney, COOLEY GODWARD LLP. CHRIS GLAROS, the author of the debunked Waters Report was formerly employed at GIBSON DUNN LLP, Facebook's other attorney. Thanks again to Wadsworth's misconduct in the Jon Waters affair, we discover more pointers that link the Leader and Waters mistreatment to the Facebook Cartel and one of its corrupt financiers. Theft of broad Internet patent properties is emerging as a common theme. But still, why target the OSU Marching Band? Go Buckeye Nation! Help us get to the bottom of this corrupt mess. There is obviously a common agenda here, but what is it?

BREAKING NEWS, AUG. 26, 2014–CHRIS GLAROS, author of the now discredited Jon Waters Report that disparaged the OSU Marching Band, is now tied to more attempts by the U.S. government and their industry collaborators to secretly confiscate broad Internet inventions, including Leader Technologies' invention of social networking which was invented in Columbus, Ohio. See Chris Glaros OSU bio.

Menlo Park, CA resident Dr. Lakshmi Arunachalam, Internet pioneer and former director of network architecture for Sun Microsystems, holds over a dozen patents on Internet transactions. Companies who do Internet transactions would like her to disappear so they can infringe her patents with impunity. Her company, Pi-Net International, Inc., has sued dozens of banks, including JPMorgan, for patent infringement, captioned Pi-Net International, Inc. v. Citizens Financial Group, Inc., et al, 12-cv-00355-RGA (D. Del. 2012). In 2012, Dr. Arunachalam filed amicus curiae briefs in support of Leader in Leader v. Facebook. She exposed judicial misconduct. Since then the Federal Circuit chief judge and clerk have both resigned. Note: The Federal Circuit chief judge, RANDALL R. RADER, was a law student and collaborator with PROFESSOR JAMES P. CHANDLER, Leader's patent attorney. See sidebar: "Federal Circuit Censored Docket."

Some banks have settled, but JPMorgan has not. Yesterday, Dr. Arunachalam filed a motion in Delaware federal disctrict court (Wilmington, DE) revealing that Delaware judges involved in that case (Exhibit A), specifically chief judge LEONARD P. STARK and trial judge RICHARD G. ANDREWS, both hold substantial amounts of JPMORGAN stock, yet have not disqualified themselves from the case. Leonard P. Stark is the same judge who (1) Eric Holder moved into the Leader v. Facebook case just one month before trial, (2) allowed Facebook to add a new claim and blocked Leader from conducting additional discovery to build their defenses (abuse of due process), and (3) failed to disclose his substantial Facebook financial holdings. Stark was appointed to the bench just a week after the Leader v. Facebook trial by President Obama in an evident quid pro quo for his support of Facebook's fabricated last-minute claim.

Glaros worked for then Assistant Attorney General ERIC H. HOLDER, JR., (who also holds substantial Facebook and JPMorgan financial interests) when Stark was an Assistant U.S. Attorney in Delaware. Professor James P. Chandler advised Holder and Glaros on intellectual property. Tellingly, Glaros then went to work for GIBSON DUNN LLP, Facebook's attorney in Leader v. Facebook. The deeper AFI digs, the pattern of relationships reveal an intent to control all Internet traffic, including Ohio State University's. How the OSU Marching Band and its innovative director, Jon Waters, became an obstacle in this global hegemony remains a mystery. But hopefully, this miscalculation will be the Facebook Cartel's undoing. Go Buckeye Nation!

CURRENT OSU MARCHING BAND SQUAD LEADERS CALL FOR A DRAKE PUBLIC APOLOGY in support of their Director Jon Waters and his reeinstatement. The student leaders demand to be interviewed by the Betty Montgomery Task Force to correct the false and misleading statements in the Glaros Report.

In 2006, Betty Montgomery took campaign donations from Woodrow A. Myers, a Stanford colleague of new OSU President Michael V. Drake. Therefore, the bias in the selection of Montgomery to lead the Task Force is evident.

OUTRAGED BUCKEYE NATION PROVIDES NEW EVIDENCE THAT REVEALS COLLUSION AMONG CERTAIN OSU TRUSTEES TO CHEAT THE OHIO STATE GRAD WHO INVENTED SOCIAL NETWORKING

CONTRIBUTING WRITERS | OPINION | AMERICANS FOR INNOVATION | AUG. 20, 2014, UPDATED SEP. 03 | PDF

(AUG. 20, 2014)—Buckeye Nation is outraged by the firing of beloved OSU Marching Band Director, Jon Waters. The outrage shows no signs of subsiding. Despite the public outcry, Ohio State Trustees president, Jeffrey Wadsworth "stands firmly" behind the decision.

New facts reveal dramatic detail about Wadsworth and other OSU trustees and their collaborators.

Is the attack on Director Jon Waters and the famed OSU Marching Band a Title IX diversion gone wrong? Some insiders suggest that the trustees sacrificed Waters to divert attention from Athletic Director Gene Smith's botched Title IX investigations.

DIVERSION FROM GENE SMITH'S BOTCHED TITLE IX

FIG. 1—MICHAEL V. DRAKE, President, The Ohio State University fired beloved OSU Band Director, Jon Waters, in one of his first acts as the new president of the university. The decision was unanimously supported by the OSU Trustees. AFI's investigation as been propelled by an outraged Buckeye Nation that has revealed substantial collusion among members of The Ohio State University Board of Trustees.

UPDATE MAR. 25, 2014

FOUR CRITICAL AFI POSTS ON JUDICIAL COMPROMISE

Fully updated Mar. 25, 2014 in the wake of the Scribd censorship:

1. WAS CHIEF JUSTICE ROBERTS BLACKMAILED into supporting Obamacare by his ethical compromises in Leader v. Facebook?
2. JUSTICE ROBERTS MENTORED Facebook Gibson Dunn LLP attorneys.
3. JUSTICE ROBERTS HOLDS substantial Facebook financial interests.
4. JUDGE LEONARD STARK FAILED to disclose his Facebook financial interests and his reliance on Facebook's Cooley Godward LLP attorneys for his appointment.

INVESTIGATIONS?

Recently, according to Ohio State's The Lantern, the Title IX coordinator in a Gene Smith investigation, Andrea Goldblum, left her position shortly after Smith fired the cheerleading coaches, including Coach Lenee Buchman. Her reasons for leaving are decidedly rote.

In addition, according to WBNS-10TV, Jon Waters reported the incident that triggered the band investigation to Athletic Director Gene Smith. Waters then took instruction from Smith on how to respond. The response was to disallow both students from future band travel. The woman complained that excluding her from travel unfairly punished her as the victim, so she filed a Title IX complaint. Waters then followed the recommendation of the Title IX coordinator and reinstated her, after which she says she was ostracized by fellow students for having made the complaint. No police report was ever filed, according to 10TV.

Bottom line, Jon Waters said he reported the incident to the Athletic Department and they decided the response together. Gene Smith says Waters did not. One of them is lying.

It also appears that Drake & Co. played upon the historical jealousy of the OSU School of Music over the Marching Band's popularity in order to get the cooperation of the provost, Joseph E. Steinmetz, and the music school directors, Richard L. Blatti and Russel C. Mikkelson.

Waters and the OSU Marching Band recently generated $30 million for the music school from the Apple iPad commercial. Those funds were probably a source of jealousy and economic power. Waters was a highly productive innovator who was also showing them up in this departmental music rivalry.

WHAT IF OSU MEGA-DONOR LESLIE WEXNER HAD ASKED FOR HIS VICTORIA'S SECRET MODELS TO DOT THE "I" AT MIDNIGHT RAMP?

Attorney Abigail Wexner was appointed as OSU Trustee just 11 days before the Waters firing, along with former Battelle executive Alex R. Fisher.

Ironically, the Waters Report made salacious reference to some OSU band women purchasing underwear from Victoria's Secret. Numerous OSU buildings are named after Wexner for his donations of Victoria's Secret profits to OSU. By contrast, the reference to Victoria's Secret in the Report contributed to a body of now refuted innuendo.

Presumably, had Leslie or Abigail Wexner asked for Victoria's Secret models to grab sousaphones and dot the "I" during midnight ramp, the university would have publicized the event and negotiated royalties. The double standard is unmistakable.

W LL HUMANKIND EVER LEARN? Facebook's Orwellian doublespeak about property and privacy (theft) merely repeats the eventual dehumanization of the individual under MAO's Red Star, Stalin's SOVIET Hammer & Cycle and Hitler's NAZI Swastika. Respect for the inalienable rights of each individual is a bedrock value of democracy. The members of the Facebook Cabal abuse this principle at every opportunity. They evidently believe that they deserve special privileges and are willing to lie, cheat and steal in order to treat themselves to these privileges.

See the previous post for more information on Wadsworth's lobbyist, McBee Strategic. At least 12 of McBee Strategic's clients have contracts with Ohio State. Without a pretty good explanation, this conflict of interest and double-dealing alone should probably get Jeffrey Wadsworth fired. It certainly is an indication of his willingness to play fast and loose with ethical principles.

People who live in glass houses shouldn't throw stones.

We obtained various court records and reached out to sources, including Leader Technologies in Columbus, Ohio, for background on Leader's past relationships to Battelle and Lawrence Livermore National Laboratory (LLNL). We received a treasure trove of evidence tying Jeffrey Wadsworth, and his former VP, Alex R. Fischer—two Ohio State Trustees—to the misappropriation of Leader's invention for social networking.

Ironically, Leader's Chairman and Founder, Michael McKibben, was a four year member and squad leader of OSU's TBDBITL ("The Best Damn Band in the Land"). McKibben knows Jon Waters and said Waters is one of the University's most credible ambassadors.

JON WATERS MENTORS THE OHIO SCHOOL FOR THE BLIND MARCHING BAND

McKibben pointed to Jon Waters' work with the Ohio School for the Blind as an example. Waters prepared them for the first-ever appearance of a blind marching band in the Tournament of Roses Parade on Jan. 1, 2010. McKibben said, "An insensitive, incompetent, uncaring person doesn't do that. Jon Waters is a person that the Ohio State administration should be heralding, not firing!"

We'll start with information that stunned even Leader (you're welcome!), who had not previously made the association to Wadsworth.

IN 2002, WADSWORTH, BATTELLE AND LLNL PROMISED TO PROTECT LEADER TECHNOLOGIES' SECRETS, YET APPEAR TO HAVE HELPED GIVE IT TO ZUCKERBERG AND IBM'S ECLIPSE FOUNDATION / MOOC

Five sets of documents stood out:

1. A 2002 CRADA contract between Leader and LLNL, signed by Wadsworth himself. See Fig. 3 below;
2. A 2002 Leader-Battelle email string and business plan PowerPoint, including discussion about Fischer's Battelle subsidiary, OmniViz;
3. A 2002 proposal for a IBM / Harvard University Initiative (18 months before Facebook started);
4. A 2002 exploration of a business alliance with Alex R. Fischer's Battelle subsidiary, OmniViz; and
5. 2002 nondisclosure agreements signed by Battelle and Lawrence Livermore National Laboratory (LLNL).

THE SURPRISE: LLNL-LEADER CRADA – [JEFFREY WADSWORTH]

In AFI's review of a Jun. 5, 2002 CRADA (Cooperative Research and Development Agreement) between LLNL and Leader Technologies, we discovered that it had been signed by Jeffrey Wadsworth before he came to Battelle.

Leader's Michael McKibben had not previously made a connection. He said the CRADA relationship with LLNL was facilitated based entirely on the prior relationships of his attorney, James P. Chandler. McKibben said, "I had met with numerous LLNL personnel during the project, but never met Wadsworth. I assumed he was simply an uninvolved LLNL signature authority. That's why his name has never rung a bell with me until you found it."

GIBSON DUNN LLP exposed as one of the most corrupt law firms in America

Investigative Reporter Julia Davis investigates Facebook's Leader v. Facebook attorney Gibson Dunn LLP. She credits this firm with the reason why not a single Wall Street banker has gone to jail since 2008. Click here to read her article "Everybody hates whistleblowers." Examiner.com, Apr. 10, 2012. Here's an excerpt:

> "Skillful manipulation of the firm's extensive media connections allows Gibson Dunn to promote their causes, while simultaneously smearing their opponents and silencing embarrassing news coverage."

This statement followed right after Davis cited Facebook's chief inside counsel in the Leader v. Facebook case, Theodore Ullyot, who appears to have helped lead the Leader v. Facebook judicial corruption. Interesting word choices associated with Gibson Dunn LLP: manipulation, smear. Attorneys swear a solemn oath to act morally, ethically, and in

3) Reason for Cooperation: LEADER and LLNL realized the mutual benefits of a strategic partnership to integrate their respective complimentary and synergistic technologies to develop and commercialize a security-based system for the benefit of the U.S. Government and U.S. economy.

FULL CIRCLE – BACK TO OSU PROVOST JOSEPH E. STEINMETZ

Now we have come full circle, back to the data point that triggered this entire investigation:

OSU Provost Joseph E. Steinmetz's May 2013 article for the Association for Psychological Science heavily promoted Massive Open Online Course (MOOC)—a conception for worldwide global education networking promoted by IBM's The Eclipse Foundation. See previous post.

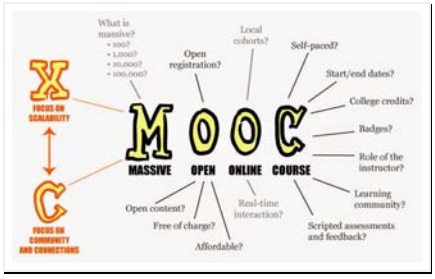

FIG. 4—MOOC logo. MOOC is founded upon exploitation of source code from The Eclipse Foundation, founded by IBM. Eclipse claims to have lost its knowledge of the source of their original code contributor, but AFI found them—Leader Technologies. See previous post. Source: Wikipedia.

Steinmetz's writings led us to an examination of MOOC vendors at Ohio State, including Oracle and Goggle. Those vendors led us to look into OSU Trustee Jeffrey Wadsworth's lobbyist, McBee Strategic, and the 12 plum contracts by McBee clients at OSU. McBee's alliance with Facebook's Cooley Godward LLP on the failed energy stimulus raised the specter of likely OSU corruption even higher.

The uncanny connection among Wadsworth/Battelle, McKibben/Leader Technologies and the Battelle/LLNL misappropriation of McKibben's invention into the hands of Zuckerberg, IBM, The Eclipse Foundation and MOOC just popped out!

Oh! what a tangled web we weave when support of democratic principles. They promise to conduct themselves in a manner than instills confidence among the citizenry in the rule of law and the judicial system. These promises appear to be meaningless. Click here for a PDF version of Julie Davis' article.

ALEX R. FISCHER, LORI BARRERES, BATTELLE, WADSWORTH, OSU AND FISCHER'S SURPRISE RESIGNATION IN 2009

A tip pointed us to these Fischer facts. Two former Battelle officials figure prominently in the firing of Jon Waters, Alex R. Fischer and Lori Barreres (Fischer).

Governor John Kasich just appointed Alex R. Fischer as an OSU trustee on Jul. 3, 2014, just 11 days before the Waters firing, along with Abigail Wexner. Nothing in Fischer's background, other than his relationship to Wadsworth and Battelle, makes him a particularly notable candidate to be an OSU Trustee.

Fischer's new wife, Lori Barreras, is a former OSU vice president of human resources. Barreres was recently sworn in as an Ohio civil rights commissioner by another OSU trustee, district court judge Algernon L. Marbley. Marbley and Attorney General Eric H. Holder are mentors to Chris Glaros, the author of the fallacious Waters Report. See NBC4i.com's Aug. 20, 2014 fact checking.

FISCHER AND BARRERAS BOTH WORKED FOR JEFFREY WADSWORTH AT BATTELLE UNTIL THEIR ABRUPT DEPARTURES IN MAR. 2009

Both Alex R. Fischer and Lori Barreras resigned from Battelle and Wadsworth's employ in March 2009 [shout out to commenter Darren]. Later that year Fischer's wife filed for divorce, according to Franklin County Court records. Battelle documents we obtained further reveal that Fischer said he knew Barreras before she started work for Wadsworth at Battelle in 2005.

The Wexner connection also raises questions of propriety. In various biographies, Fischer cites Leslie Wexner as his mentor. The fact that Fischer and Abigail Wexner joined the OSU Trustees together on Jul. 3, 2014, just 11 days before the firing of Jon Waters, raises more questions about OSU Trustee impartiality and insider dealing.

OSU TRUSTEE NEPOTISM

Later, as President of the OSU Board of Trustees, Jeffrey Wadsworth appears to have arranged for his two former senior Battelle employees to land plum OSU jobs. Lori Barreras became OSU Vice President of HR, and now Ohio Civil Rights Commissioner, while her new husband, Alexander Ross Fischer, finds himself an OSU Trustee. Can anyone say nepotism? (Using one's position to give cush jobs to family and friends. Not OK in a major public university.)

In a case of turnabout is fair play, these facts could be interpreted as indications of an inappropriate Battelle relationship. But then again, no one knows for sure since we have not heard from Fischer and Barreras themselves.

However, if we use the OSU Trustees' treatment of Jon Waters as the model for conducting investigations, we would interpret these facts salaciously and fire both Fischer and Barreras immediately.

Bottom line, drawing conclusions from incomplete facts is not fair play. Given the involvement of another OSU trustee, federal judge Algernon L. Marbley, makes this Jon Waters affair all the more suspicious. Federal judges are supposed to be impartial according to their Code of Conduct for U.S. Judges.

OSU TRUSTEE ALEX R. FISCHER NEEDS MORE DUE DILIGENCE

(AUG. 24, 2014 UPDATE)—AFI researchers seek additional information about: (1) The Mar. 2009 BATTELLE MEMORIAL INSTITUTE firings of executives ALEX R. FISCHER and LORI BARRERAS (now Fischer). (2) Fischer's hiring at the COLUMBUS PARTNERSHIP. Who sponsored him? What were his qualifications for the job? (3) Researchers also seek information to cooroborate commenter "truthteller's" assertions about Fischer's and Barreras' inaapropriate use of the Battelle corporate jet. What were those reasons? When did those uses occur? What did JEFFREY WADSWORTH and other senior Battelle executives know and when did they know it? (4) Why is Wadsworth rehiring these individuals at Ohio State after such allegedly egregious misconduct at Battelle? And finally, (5) Who knew what and when about Battelle's misappropriation of Leader Technologies' invention? Has "national security" secrecy been invoked by the Administration to prevent disclosure of the confiscation of this technology by the U.S. government with Battelle's assistance?

OUR MISSION

American citizens must fight abuse of the constitutional right for authors and inventors to enjoy the fruits of their inventions, as a matter of matter of basic property rights and sound public policy. Otherwise, instead of innovation, creativity, genius, ideas, vision, courage, entrepreneurship, respect, property, rejuvenation, morals, ethics, values, renewal, truth, facts, rights, privacy, solutions and judicial faithfu ness,

. . . our society and economy will be dragged down (and eventually destroyed) by copying, infringement, thievery, counterfeiting, hacking, greed, misinformation, exploitation, abuse, waste, disrespect, falsity, corruption, bribery, coercion, intimidation, doublespeak, misconduct, lies, deception, attorney "dark arts," destruction, confusion, dishonesty, judicial chicanery and lawlessness.

If we do not speak up, impeach derelict judges and imprison corrupt attorneys, we cannot possibly hope to start fixing the current ills in our society. Without justice and respect for private property, democracy has no sure foundation.

MORE PROOFS OF COLLUSION:

The OSU Trustees' inter-relationships are convoluted, so stick with us.

Chris Glaros is the author of the Waters "sexualized culture" report. Glaros attended Columbia and Stanford. He clerked for then Assistant Attorney General Eric H. Holder, and for Judge Algernon L. Marbley, Southern District of Ohio (Columbus). At the time of his Holder clerkship, Professor James P. Chandler was working closely with Holder and the Justice Department on trade secrets and economic espionage. Chandler even cites Holder in a Mar. 28, 2001 trade secrets conference he sponsored.

Algernon L. Marbley is an OSU Trustee and Southern District Court judge in Columbus. He attended UNC and Northwestern and has taught at OSU and Harvard. He mentored Chris Glaros and swore in Lori Barreras Fischer as an Ohio Civil Rights Commissioner.

Lori Barreras (aka Lori Barreras Crouch) is married to Alexander R. Fischer, appointed OSU Trustee on Jul. 3, 2014, just 11 days before the Waters firing. She was appointed to the Ohio Civil Rights Commission on Oct. 31, 2013 where she was sworn in by Algernon L. Marbley. She most recently served as Asst. VP of Human Resources at OSU. Prior to that she was VP of HR at Battelle, employed by Jeffrey Wadsworth, CEO of Battelle. Barreras attended the University of Arizona

Alex R. Fischer is an OSU Trustee, appointed just 11 days before the Waters firing on Jul. 24, 2014. Fischer was Sr. VP at Battelle, including chairman of a Battelle company, OmniViz. Fischer's boss was Battelle CEO, Jeffrey Wadsworth. Fischer is married to Lori Barreras who served as V.P. or HR for Battelle under Wadsworth. Fischer attended the University of Tennessee.

Gene Smith is OSU Athletic Director who appears to have botched two recent Title IX investigations, the OSU cheerleaders and the OSU Marching Band. Smith attended Notre Dame.

Jeffrey Wadsworth is president of the OSU Trustees and CEO of Battelle Memorial Institute. Wadsworth attended Sheffield in the UK and worked for the University of California Trustees at Lawrence Livermore National Laboratory (LLNL).

Michael V Drake is president of Ohio State. He attended Stanford. His Stanford medical colleague, Woodrow A. Myers, used his company, Wellpoint, Inc., to spread around political donations liberally in Ohio since 2006, including gifts to Betty Montgomery, whom Drake has appointed to the ongoing Waters probe. Drake has failed to disclose that his other choices for the Jon Waters probe, Arent Fox LLP and David Vaughn, are equally conflicted. See previous post.

CONSPIRACY TO EXPLOIT THE SOCIAL NETWORKING INVENTION EXPOSED

On Mar. 19, 2002, Jeffrey Wadsworth, then Deputy Director at Lawrence Livermore National Laboratory (LLNL), signed a research and development agreement with Michael McKibben, founder of Leader Technologies.

Copied on that agreement were Leader's patent attorney and director, Professor James P. Chandler; Major General James E. Freeze (U.S. Army ret.), former #3 at the National Security Agency (NSA); and Leader's corporate attorney, Kevin Kelso, Fenwick & West LLP (became Facebook's patent and corporate attorney, in addition to numerous other members of IBM's The Eclipse Foundation, which had been started just a few months earlier). Chandler was also IBM's outside patent counsel and worked closely with IBM chief intellectual property counsel, David J. Kappos, who became director of the U.S. Patent Office in 2009.

That agreement, written by Chandler, contained an Appendix C provision whereby Leader "place in trust" hard copies of this LEADER2LEADER invention comprised of "823,150 lines of code." Programming code is the software version of a book manuscript. Each line is roughly equivalent to a sentence of writing. A good programmer can produce about 200-300 lines of code a day. So 823,150 lines of code represent about 15 person-years of work. Mark Zuckerberg claimed to have written equivalent code to start Facebook in "one to two weeks" at Harvard.

Leader Technologies - Battelle Memorial Institute - University Initiative Business

We are an opinion blog that advocates for strong intellectual property rights. We welcome commenters and contributors. The Leader v. Facebook patent infringement case first came to our attention after learning that the trial judge, Leonard P. Stark, U.S. District Court of Delaware, ignored his jury's admission that they had no evidence to support their on-sale bar verdict, but the judge supported it anyway.

The judicial misconduct has deteriorated from there, replete with two of the three judges on the Federal Circuit appeal panel, Judges Alan D. Lourie and Kimberly A. Moore, holding Facebook stock that they did not disclose to the litigants, and later tried to excuse through a quick motion slipped in at the last minute by the Clerk of Court, Jan Horbaly, and his close friends at The Federal Circuit Bar Association. (The DC Bar subsequently revealed that Mr. Horbaly is not licensed to practice law in Washington D.C.)

The judges ignored shocking new evidence that Mark Zuckerberg withheld 28 hard drives of 2003-2004 evidence from Leader Technologies that could prove actual theft (and therefore claims even more serious than infringement). In addition, Facebook's appeal attorney, Thomas G. Hungar of Gibson Dunn LLP, has close personal ties to just about every judicial player in this story. The misconduct appears to reach into the U.S. Patent Office through abuse of the reexamination process by Facebook. We will stay focused on Leader v. Facebook until justice is served, but we also welcome news and analysis of intellectual property abuse in other cases as well.

FIG. 5—LEADER TECHNOLOGIES' UNIVERSITY INITIATIVE SLIDES PREPARE MAR. 21, 2002 FOR MEETINGS WITH BATTELLE. These ideas were proposed to senior executives of Battelle under the protection of a nondisclosure confidentiality agreement. Leader proposed that Battelle team with them to deploy its new invention in cooperation with IBM and Harvard. That is exactly what happened, but Battelle executives ignored the pesky little fact that it was not their invention.

Click here for a full copy of this PowerPoint.

Facebook launched on Feb. 4, 2004, just three months after Leader completed the debugging of a key component that was a cornerstone of the innovation. That was the very same night, Oct. 28, 2003, that Zuckerberg wrote in his online diary "Let the hacking begin." See also The Social Network Hacking Scene Lie to Fool the Masses, YouTube.

Mark Zuckerberg Deposition ("one to two weeks" to build Facebook; vaguely admits "other" sources for his ideas), Apr. 25, 2006, ConnectU LLC v. Zuckerberg et al, 04-cv-11923-DPW (D.Mass. 2004).Source: U.S. Courts.

Zuckerberg's claim to have built all of Facebook in "one to two weeks" is not credible, yet no one in the media has investigated these facts. Instead, a gullible public and Wall Street lapdog media has swallowed The Social Networking movie fiction hook, line and sinker.

PROPERTY THEFT IS JUSTIFIED IN THE NAME OF "NATIONAL SECURITY"—DIDN'T YOU GET THAT MEMO?

Two years earlier, the purpose of the LLNL agreement was to prove-out McKibben's (social networking) invention for use in U.S. government applications as a "Rapidly Deployable Security System." Trouble is, the US government executives liked McKibben's invention so well that they conspired and stole it . . . in the name of "national security."

BATTELLE ELICITED THE CONTACT WITH COLUMBUS-BASED LEADER TECHNOLOGIES

On Feb. 21, 2002 Battelle proposed a meeting to explore a business alliance with Leader and a Battelle company named OmniViz. Three weeks later, on Mar. 29, 2002, Leader prepared a 50-page business plan. That plan included a proposed IBM and Harvard "University Initiative" with Battelle.

Three months earlier, on Nov. 29, 2001, IBM and Chandler, with the help of Fenwick & West LLP, had created The Eclipse Foundation with source code whose authorship they were "unable to determine" eighteen months later. That source code from Leader Technologies forms the foundation of the current global education initiative named MOOC. See previous post.

CODE OF CONDUCT FOR U.S. JUDGES

"CANON 2: A JUDGE SHOULD AVOID IMPROPRIETY AND THE APPEARANCE OF IMPROPRIETY IN ALL ACTIVITIES"

GALLERY OF JUDICIAL MISCONDUCT

Judge Leonard P. Stark, U.S. District Court of Delaware, trial judge in Leader Techs, Inc. v. Facebook, Inc., 770 F. Supp. 2d 686 (D.Del. 2011). Judge Stark heard his jury foreman admit that the jury made the on-sale bar decision without any evidence other than speculation, and yet he supported that verdict anyway. Just months before trial, Judge Stark allowed Facebook to add the on-sale bar claim after the close of all fact

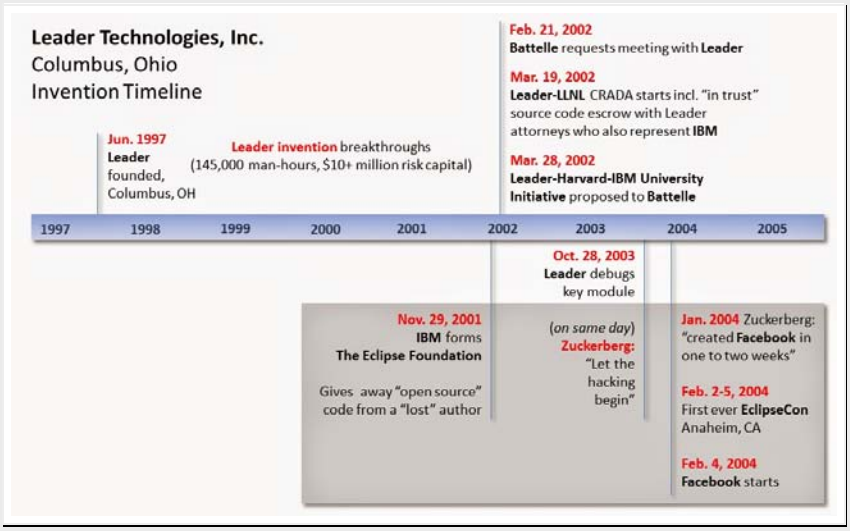

FIG. 6—LEADER TECHNOLOGIES, INC., COLUMBUS, OHIO, INVENTION TIMELINE. Invention is difficult to achieve, but easy for predators to copy. Click here to see confirmation that Facebook started (Feb. 4, 2004) during the first ever EclipseCon 2004 conference on Feb. 2-5, 2004 underwritten by IBM with a huge smokescreen of branded hangers on.

Ohio State's Provost Joseph E. Steinmetz sang the praises of MOOC in an article for the Association for Psychological Sciences in May 2013 after which Ohio State embraced its MOOC vendors, including Google and Oracle, two clients of OSU Trustee president Jeffrey Wadsworth's lobbyist, McBee Strategic LLC. This is the definition of feathering one's nest. It's an illegal conflict of interest, especially for university officials entrusted with impartiality.

McBee's lobbying partner is Cooley Godward LLP, Facebook's lawyers in Leader v. Facebook whose partner, Donald K. Stern, advised the White House to replace the judge in the Leader case to a Facebook-friendly Obama nominee, Leonard P. Stark, one month before trial. Stark's first act as judge was to allow Facebook to add a new "on-sale bar" claim, and block Leader from conducting addition discovery to prepare its defenses. See Request for Congressional Intervention.

On Jul. 27, 2010, in a split verdict, Leader nevertheless proved that Facebook infringes its patent on 11 of 11 claims and that there is no prior art (the meat of a patent case). Facebook prevailed only on the on-sale bar claim with fabricated evidence which the courts affirmed in lockstep right up to the U.S. Supreme Court. The corruption has become obvious to all knowledgeable observers. However, Eric H. Holder's Justice Department has systematically turning a blind eye to propriety.

All of the judges in the Leader v. Facebook case hold substantial amounts of Facebook interests which they did not disclose, even when asked to do so. Facebook's appeals attorney, Thomas G. Hungar, Gibson Dunn LLP, failed to disclose his conflicting relationships with the appeals judges. Chief Justice John G. Roberts, Jr. failed to disclose his conflicting relationship with Hungar and Gibson Dunn. We're just getting warmed up on this corruption, but we digress.

Steinmetz is the boss of the OSU School of Music which was quick to swoop in to run the band following the Waters firing. The jealousy of the School of Music toward the popularity of the marching band is well-known and deep-seated. Steinmetz appears to have thrown the Music School leadership Richard L. Blatti and Russel C. Mikkelson a bone for not yet known favors.

MOOC evidently had its origins in the Mar. 29, 2002 Leader PowerPoint business plan created by Michael McKibben for Leader's business opportunity discussions with Battelle.

FACEBOOK'S TRUE ORIGINS

This new evidence validates long-held suspicions of widespread collusion among participants in the "Facebook Cartel." Battelle was long suspected of involvement, but proof was elusive, until the Jon Waters band scandal focused attention on the OSU Trustee President, Jeffrey Wadsworth.

Leader had the idea for a Harvard University Initiative involving IBM and Battelle two years discovery and blocked Leader from preparing its defenses to this new claim. Judge Stark allowed the claims despite Leader's prophetic argument that the action would confuse the jury and prejudice Leader. (Read Leader's May 20, 2010 motion here.) He also permitted the jury to ignore the Pfaff v. Wells Electronics, Inc. test for on-sale bar, even after instructing the jury to use it. (See that Jury Instruction No. 4.7 here.) He also contradicted his own instruction to Leader to answer Interrogatory No. 9 in the present tense (2009), then permitted the jury to interpret it as a 2002 admission as well. See his Sep. 14, 2009 Order. Facebook's entire on-sale bar case is based upon this interrogatory. (Editorial: Hardly sufficient to meet the "heavy burden" of the clear and convincing evidence standard.)

Judge Alan D. Lourie, U.S. Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit, panel judge in Leader Techs v. Facebook, Inc., 678 F.3d 1300 (Fed. Cir. 2012). Judge Lourie stood to benefit financially from undisclosed holdings in Facebook. See analysis of Judge Lourie's T. Rowe Price holdings re. the Facebook IPO. Judge Lourie also failed to apply his own law-test in Group One v. Hallmark Cards to the evidence. After debunking all of Facebook's evidence on appeal, Judge Lourie created new argument in the secrecy of chambers to support Facebook and prevent the on-sale bar verdict from being overturned—a clear breach of constitutional due process.

Judge Kimberly A. Moore, U.S.

before Facebook went live on Feb. 4, 2004—while Zuckerberg was still in high school.

ALEX R. FISCHER AND BATTELLE-OMNIVIZ

On Jul. 3, 2014, Alex Fischer was appointed to the OSU Board of Trustees. Fischer's official OSU biography says he was Chairman of OmniViz. However, on Feb. 21, 2002, Leader Technologies prepared a business plan with Battelle-OmniViz for their confidential business discussions.

In addition to the PowerPoint that specifically mentioned OmniViz, Leader also provided a copy of email correspondence showing that OmniViz participated in business discussions with Leader on Feb. 25, 2002. Those OmniViz discussions were protected by the nondisclosure agreements. ANY unauthorized use of that information for the benefit of Battelle or OmniViz was prohibited. See Battelle nondisclosure confidentiality agreement.

According to Leader, no one from Battelle or LLNL past or present has ever contacted Leader to license their intellectual property.

Mike,

Ben and I left our meeting earlier this week impressed with your team, the technologies we discussed and the potential for working together.

As a follow up to our meeting I wanted to know if you and your team are available to meet tomorrow at Battelle from 10:00 - 11:30 am or 2:00 - 3:30pm? I know this is very short notice but I thought it best to ask since one of the key individuals I want to demo one of our software technologies is in town and can be made available. If these two time slots do not work for you I will send you other potential dates and times.

At present I am participating in a two hour conference call but wanted to get this out to you given the tight time frame. I will call you later this morning or early afternoon to discuss. We look forward to further exploring opportunities for working together with you.

Regards,
Jim

FIG 6—BATTELLE FEB. 21, 2002 LETTER TO LEADER TECHNOLOGIES REQUESTING MEETING TO DISCUSS LEADER'S INVENTIONS. Including in this meeting were executives from Battelle subsidiary OmniViz. Leader's proposed Harvard - IBM University Initiative was explored. These ideas were likely given to Fenwick & West LLP's (Leader's other attorney) client Accel Partners LLP, who took the idea to Harvard President Lawrence H. Summers, and they together contrived the Facebook's launch at Harvard, replete with a next-Bill-Gates front man, the 19-year old Mark Zuckerberg.

In the twelve months from Aug. 2003 to Jun. 2004, the 19-year Zuckerberg and thefacebook garnered more articles and attention from Harvard President Larry Summers' The Harvard Crimson journalists than any world leader or subject, bar none. Other nascent facebooks on campus (Winklevosses, Greenspan, Harvard Tech Office) had only a few. Looming just behind the door was IBM, The Eclipse Foundation and Battelle with Leader's University Initiative blueprint.

Fischer and Battelle went on the commercialize OmniViz and sold the company on Jan. 29, 2007.

AFI had previously received reports that Zuckerberg had a copy of a Leader PowerPoint, but this is our first view of the actual document. It is no wonder that the boy wonder could move so quickly, Leader had already produced "823,150 lines of code" and placed it "in trust" with Chandler, who proceeded to supply it to Jeffrey Wadsworth at LLNL, then Battelle and IBM via The Eclipse Foundation, Chandler's other client, we believe.

Indeed, Chandler's Jun. 05, 2002 letter to Leader confirms that he gave the source code to Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit, panel judge in Leader Techs v. Facebook, Inc., 678 F.3d 1300 (Fed. Cir. 2012). Judge Moore stood to benefit financially from undisclosed holdings in Facebook. See disclosure of substantial holdings in Facebook and Facebook-related stocks. Judge Moore failed to follow the long-held precedent for testing on-sale bar evidence in Pfaff v. Wells Electronics, Inc.—an evident and intentional omission coming from a former patent law professor. After debunking all of Facebook's evidence on appeal, Judge Moore created new argument in the secrecy of chambers to support Facebook and prevent the on-sale bar verdict from being overturned—a clear breach of constitutional due process.

Judge Evan J. Wallach, U.S. Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit, member of the three-judge panel in Leader Techs v. Facebook, Inc., 678 F.3d 1300 (Fed. Cir. 2012). Judge Wallach is not a patent attorney. This begs the question as to why a judge with no knowledge of patent law was assigned to the case. Would anyone ask a dentist to perform brain surgery? The Federal Circuit was specially formed to appoint patent-knowledgeable judges to patent cases. There is no evidence so far in the judicial disclosures that Judge Wallach holds stock in Facebook, although when he was asked on a motion to disclose potential Facebook holdings and other conflicts of interest, he refused along with the other judges. See Motion to Disclose Conflicts of Interest. Judge Wallach continued in silence even after Clerk of Court Horbaly failed to provide him with Dr. Lakshmi Arunachalam's motions (according to his Federal Circuit staffer Valeri White), and yet the Clerk signed an order regarding that motion on Judge Wallach's behalf. See a full analysis of these events at Donna Kline Now! Judge Wallach also failed to police his court's violation of Leader's Fifth and 14th Amendment constitutional right to due process when he participated in Fenwick & West LLP (Kevin Kelso) and retired NSA chief, General James E. Freeze. Many Fenwick clients are members of The Eclipse Foundation, and suspiciously, Fenwick became Facebook's patent and corporate attorney several years later.

Fenwick has filed hundreds of patents for Facebook starting in about 2007. Also illegal, Fenwick did not disclose their knowledge of Leader's invention in any of Facebook/Zuckerberg's filings, which they are required by law to do. Tellingly, they did disclose Leader's patent in two earlier Marc Andreessen patents. Such conduct is the patent equivalent of fraud called "inequitable conduct."

Facebook's attorneys lied to the court in the Leader v. Facebook patent infringement case that started on Nov. 19, 2008. They told the court they "lost" ALL of Zuckerberg's hard drives and Harvard emails from 2003-2004. Yet magically, just two days after the Federal Circuit supported a verdict for Facebook based on fabricated evidence never put before the jury, Facebook's attorneys magically "found" 28 Zuckerberg hard drives and emails in the Paul Ceglia v. Mark Zuckerberg case (see Rose & McGowan depositions). Imagine that.

The perpetrators are clearly hiding their connections to IBM, Battelle, Chandler, Wadsworth, LLNL, ORNL, DoE, NSA, Justice, Holder, The Eclipse Foundation, MOOC, etc. Can anyone say massive hidden agenda? No wonder Washington is dysfunctional. These people are drunk on the power they've accumulated by stealth. See Request for Congressional Intervention.

PREDICTION – OSU INFORMATION TECHNOLOGY "REORGANIZATION"

If OSU allows President Michael V. Drake to remain in office after this Waters debacle, we predict that Drake will announce a reorganization of the OSU Information Technology Office. This will enable his MOOC friends to finish laying their digital pipelines at OSU without interference from "old fashioned" privacy- and security-minded technologists, which were likely blocking their agenda.

the fabrication of new arguments and evidence for Facebook in the secrecy of judge's chambers after he had just invalidated Facebook's sole remaining item of evidence (using disbelieved testimony as ostensible evidence of an opposite). Judge Wallach also failed to police his court when he failed to apply the Supreme Court's Pfaff v. Wells Electronics, Inc. test for on-sale bar evidence, which included even the Federal Circuit's own Group One v. Hallmark Cards, Inc. test—a test which Judge Lourie should have advised Judge Wallach to follow since Judge Lourie helped write that opinion. Group One test omission analysis.

Clerk of Court Jan Horbaly, U.S. Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit, clerk who signed all the opinions in Leader Techs v. Facebook, Inc., 678 F.3d 1300 (Fed. Cir. 2012). Clerk Horbaly and his staff obfuscated when the court's ruling was challenged by an amicus curiae brief revealing clear mistakes of law and new evidence. See analysis of the misconduct and misrepresentations within the Federal Circuit Clerk of Court in Leader v. Facebook. Mr. Horbaly failed to disclose his conflicts of interest and close associations with numerous Facebook attorneys and law firms, as well as his close association with one of Facebook's largest shareholders, Microsoft, who is a Director of The Federal Circuit Bar Association where Mr. Horbaly is an ex officio officer. Additionally, the DC Bar revealed in a written statement that Clerk Horbaly is not licensed to practice law in the District of Columbia. Wow!
Just read new post and thought I would respond to truthteller's previous comment and add a bit more info on Alex and Lori even though it is mentioned a bit in the post.
I wonder if this is what truthteller was talking about.
2009 March: Alex Fischer leaves Battelle. "I took on enormous responsibility and found myself on the road, traveling internationally and in meetings 200 nights a year, and it was causing major problems in my personal life,"
He said he wants to pay more attention to personal and family matters. He declined to say what he'll do next professionally.
Everyone was asking, why?
2009 March: Lori Barreras leaves Battelle.
A little curious, isn't it? They both leave Battelle at the same time.
2009 December: Alex's divorce from wife finalized.
2010 March: Lori hired by OSU
2013 November: Alex and Lori marry.
To quote the OSU Investigation; Alex and Lori, two of the parties involved, knew or reasonably should have known about this culture but failed to eliminate the "major problems", prevent its recurrence, and address its effects!!! (Emphasis added)
Are their ethics and morals a little skewed to be judging somebody else's Life's work? A reasonable person might see their actions in the OSU, Waters incident, as questionable?
Maybe Alex was trying to dodge unfavorable press by voluntarily stepping down from Battelle. In a recent article about fraternizing employees, Bob Lincoln, director of human resources at Battelle Memorial Institute, which employs 7,000 worldwide including 3,000 in Columbus, said "Battelle doesn't have a policy governing office relationships, because it is a personal issue. However, the company does have formal guidelines on appropriate behavior for managers that address a relationship between the manager and a reporting employee. "That is where we have a concern -- that it could be perceived as a conflict or favoritism," Lincoln said. "Our position is that the manager decides to end the relationship or move out of the role as manager of that individual." In the latter case, Lincoln said, it is not a punitive measure toward the manager -- Battelle wants to find a good solution. "We want to work with our people and, when at all possible, would find another position within the company," he said. "But many times the subordinate will come forward and say `I would like to transfer.' But it really does fall to the manager. It is a responsibility by virtue of accepting a management position."
I am not throwing stones here as I will probably be accused of it, but AFI took my thunder!
You be the judge!

In a sympathetic way, we should cut a few of these folks some slack. It appears to me that many of these being identified on this site are not knowingly complicit . Out of their zeal to be a part of the "in crowd", they have fallen into line, attended the cocktail parties, and posted selfies of themselves with the "big boys". Most are well educated , drive Beamers, and have their weekly manicures. Their innocence in this masterful heist is obvious but ignorance is no excuse. They continue to perpetuate this fraud by playing along and enjoying the fruits that they are offered. Generally, the same thing happens in for the (mis)conduct of his judges and Clerk of Court in Leader Techs v. Facebook, Inc., 678 F.3d 1300 (Fed. Cir. 2012). Judge Rader failed to manage his court resulting in a likely situation where his judges never even received briefs that they allegedly ruled on in favor of Facebook. Judge Rader also failed to disclose his conflicting relationships with a Leader principle with whom he may have had deep professional differences during his time at the Senate Judiciary Committee—his former professor of law at George Washington University Law Center, former Leader director Professor James P. Chandler. See analysis of Judge Rader's undisclosed conflicts of interest in Leader v. Facebook. Judge Rader also did not stop his judges from creating new arguments and evidence for Facebook in the secrecy of chambers—after they had debunked all of Facebook's evidence on appeal, which is a clear breach of constitutional due process.

every fraud of this magnitude. As a comparison, the Madoff theft was a big deal to the press and to the legal system because it harmed hundreds of really important people and involved billions of dollars. The Leader heist , on the other hand, involved only a small , unimportant company in a small community in Ohio, led by a nobody from a podunk Midwestern university and included billions of dollars. The Madoff scandal was heinous because some of the victims were in the " in crowd" , while the Leader scandal was not heinous because it was for the greater good and the victims were not that cool. Both entailed billions of dollars and both became obviously nefarious and illegal when the layers of the corruption were pealed back. There is one major difference.....the peel back to expose the perpetrators on the Leader heist included some really important elitists that wanted to stay in the shadows and keep their new found wealth. Since the adjudication process was feathered with friends in high places, the obvious IP infringement was quashed at every level. It's as if a patent was never filed and never recognized. I am still aghast that not one brave, honest ,informed citizen has put sunlight on this slimy collusion. That's all it took to bring down ol' Bernie.....c'mon, if you speak up, you have a chance to get a selfie with me if you do. I will even bleach my mullet.

The interesting thing about the Alumni Association is that apparently it's no longer independent of the University. I've been told the University swallowed it up, but I can't find anything confirming that. No one seems to know if Archie is a public employee or private. Now if this is a secret, then something is fishy. . I guess the only way to find out is to do a FOIA request.

This falls into the narrative of power, control, and money. I've also been told that the University is going around to all the Alumni groups and asking them to give up their independence. I've been told that they did this with the band alumni group and they flat out told the University no.

More notes:
• Around the same time of the cheerleading controversy 3 freshman OSU football players were accused of rape. The rape allegedly happened Oct. 21st, wasn't reported until Nov. 10th and evidence/interviews weren't collected until Feb/Mar. The interesting thing about this is that the player at the center of it, Sevann Pittman, was conveniently allowed to leave the program a week before this incident was published.

http://mic.com/articles/30634/ohio-state-rape-case-could-be-the-next-steubenville

• Gene Smith got a huge promotion to VP in January 2014. There's nothing to suggest he earned this and the timing is very suspect. Also, the word on the street is that Gene has never been a fan of the band, he wants to change it by "adding more skin on the field", and he doesn't like that the attention Jon Waters brought it overshadows the football team.

This is a big time for Mr. Smith. He's really moving up the ladder and gaining more power. Some seem to think he's putting his ducks in a row to become OSU president someday.

Besides Wadsworth, Smith is the only person at OSU brazen enough to destroy the band and Jon Waters. Also, Jon Waters is one of the few people with the courage to tell him no and I'm sure Smith didn't like that Waters isn't a yes man.

• The firings of basketball coach Jim O'Brien and football coach Jim Tressel show that the Athletic Dept has a clear MO when dealing with controversy- the coach takes the fall, not the AD or the school.

• I'd love to know what Chris Glaros has to gain from all this. He apparently is very politically motivated and really wants to move up the ladder. His conflict of interest with shady Board of Trustee member Algenon Marbley is interesting, so is his connection to Eric Holder.

• I'd also love to know why the feds were investigating OSU for Title IX. What prompted this? OSU's PR office makes it sound like it was no big deal and that they weren't actually being investigated. Why the spin? At this point we know that whatever the PR people say the exact opposite is true. What prompted the investigation? The athletic department, the fact that the University covers up a lot of rape incidents, or both. I would imagine that there is a rape case or a few out there that we've never heard about involving kids of influential people.

Look into Mark Kvamme and his company Drive Capital. I know he's tied up with the Silicon Valley dealings. There are some extremely shady things going on with him. He was appointed by Governor Kasich, who selects OSU's Board of Trustees, to run JobsOhio, which is surrounded in controversy.

Mark Kvamme is most assuredly a card-carrying member of this Battelle // Eclipse / Facebook white collar racketeering. He became a board member of LinkedIn right when the Eclipse Foundation/IBM/NSA was taking delivery of Leader's debugged code... at the same time Zuckerberg received it. Too bad Kasich hasn't seen through this Cartel. Kvamme is in Ohio to keep watch over the pesky Ohioans who invented the code he and his cronies have exploited. Any time you see a resume with so many achievements. Run.

OSU TRUSTEES REFUSE THE OSU MARCHING BAND ALUMNI ASSOCIATION'S REQUEST TO BE ON THEIR AUGUST 28, 29, 2014 AGENDA. TOTALITARIANISM IS A NEW LOOK FOR A PUBLIC UNIVERSITY.

AFI has been forwarded a copy of an email just sent out by the OSU Marching Band Alumni leadership, here reproduced in shortened version due to character limitations for a comment:

Thank you for continuing to support the OSUMB, Jon and his family, and the TBDBITL Alumni Club. This has been an especially tough week for the OSUMB. Please keep them in your thoughts and continue to support them every day and in every way.

As I mentioned last week, this year's Reunion will be the biggest ever.
There has been discussion as to how we will carry on in light of the current situation. There are many ways we can choose to protest and "make a statement." We have chosen the best statement we can make - to show up in record numbers, march our tails off, and show 105,000 Buckeye fans and the university that TBDBITL Alumni will not fold, that we are a first class organization, and that we are there to SUPPORT the 247 men and women of The Ohio State University Marching Band!

If you wish, wear your 'We Stand With Jon' apparel all Reunion week long. On Saturday during the game, we will wear our standard Reunion uniform with class, dignity, and pride. This will be strictly enforced.

Drake met this afternoon with the OSU band in a secret meeting to discuss his firing of their Director Jon Waters. One 4-year member ta ked to the NBC affiliate and said Drake mostly listened. He said they told Drake they didn't like the way the band was being MIScharacterized nationally. When asked if the band could carry on without Waters, the bandsman declined to respond. DRAKE REFUSED TO BE INTERVIEWED. What a coward. Former President Gordon Gee was always up front and straightforward. This guy Drake is a snake. O-H B-O

The difficulty with any association or organization, including government and the church, is to identify the most efficient size and scope. Humans were given an innate desire to seek power beyond their capability to lead and manage. And, sadly, many of our current leaders were educated beyond their base intelligence. In Texas we call that "outrunning your punt coverage". Throw into that ugly mix , a touch of greed and larceny and, wahla, you have the " transformation of America" . Our President was proud of his dreams in this regard and he is doing his best to golf us into final submission. His golf swing really sucks. But back to business. Harvard's been pressing Obama's learned vision since A Lawrence Lowell was the school's president. (He was a "science of government professor.") The connections between Ivy League graduates is at the highest level in most control positions.....business and government. It's not that they are the best equipped necessarily, it has more to do with the closed loop. The commoners from podunk schools are generally excluded and ridiculed. As a side note, I will tell you that my son is a Princeton graduate . I am proud to say that he is not a typical elitist. He and some of his colleagues are following this blog with great interest.

I don't know much about music or marching bands.....can't even whistle Dixie.....but I know about herd mentality. These boys have poked an ant bed. Wouldn't it be ironic that the string that unraveled the elites hold on education , social media, and government, begins with a very proud marching band. Go gettum ,you Buckeye soldiers.

This site is so entertaining because of all of the mathematically improbable coinky dinks....Truth Teller brought up one more that just sent chills up my shaved back....I asked my personal assistant if she had ever had an affair and she said she had. I asked her about the lucky guy and she said it was our postman who had just returned from World War II. And what was really ironic, she had been a baton twirler , in the band, the year FDR was elected. How about those odds ? I'll tell ya, Flavia is still a looker. I'm gonna have to let her go, though, because her Henry Mill typewriter literally fell apart last week. But that's another story.

The really sad part of this entire Facebook scenario is the total lack of moral turpitude that has been on display since the Zuckster began his journey to ill gained fame and riches. I hope he ,along with the rest of you co-conspirators , learns, before it's too late, that the real currency in life is not money or big houses or cars. It's never too late to do the honorable thing. It seems that doing the right thing these days is so rare that when an ordinary person rejects immoral actions of others, we tend to call that person a hero. Truth Teller, I hope you will be an

In regard to Tressel:
Tressel revealed to the world just how absolutely ignorant, incompetent, and untrustworthy he is when he said that he did not know who to contact when he learned about the violations and also claimed to not have done anything about those violations because of confidentiality concerns.
TWO QUESTIONS:
1. If Tressel was telling the truth, who would have any respect for him or hire him for any job due to his gross lack of intelligence and for being so grossly incompetent?
2. If Tressel was NOT telling the truth, who would have any respect for him or hire him for any job for being such a liar and using such lame lies?
ANSWER TO BOTH QUESTIONS:
Those who don't have the courage to accept the truth.

I have never commented on the Tressel situation before, and certainly can't argue with Tim's raw logic. A lie is a lie. But, the standard seems to be that one lie will get you fired at OSU, but a decade of lies will get you and your buds cush Trustee appointments, gargantuan social networking stock payouts, and sweet OSU contracts.
The comparison is grotesque when you think about it. There is no comparing the scope of sins between the current OSU Trustees and the relative pettiness of Tressel's Tattoo-gate.
The bigger question is why didn't Gene Smith get the axe as the OSU Athletic Director during Tattoo-gate? Fire Tressel but keep his boss Smith? Compared to this scandal, Tattoo-gate is downright silly. So Tressel tried to cover for juveniles who'd made some bad choices. What parent doesn't do that? By contrast, the OSU Trustees are covering up conspiracy, bid-rigging and patent theft. Now those are serious offenses.
If, like Tim says, a lie is a lie, then the Trustees lied in the Jon Waters investigation and should all be sacked immediately, without a hearing.

Given the timing of the appointment of Personal-Corporate-Jet" Alex R. Fischer, along with Abigail Wexner, to the Trustee board just 11 days before the Jon Waters firing, you gotta wonder what gifts were given to Governor John Kasich's gubernatorial campaign in exchange for Fischer's nonsensical appointment. What is Fischer's achievement anyway?
He sucked up to Jeffrey Wadsworth for a decade and is keeping Battelle's theft of Leader Technologies' social networking invention their little secret? Presumably Lori Barreras knew the dirty secrets also.
The Jon Waters Title IX accusations are just diversionary smokescreens IMHO. Pay no attention to that man behind the curtain who has been feathering his nest for a decade.

the past six years, not one person in this administration has had the courage to tell the truth....not one. Sadly ,liars are entrenched at every level because we , the podunk, are too cowardly and lazy to do anything about it. The lying started from day one with Obama and the team he picked. I could fill a page on this site with his ,and his mesmerized apostles , lies. It is non stop. And it occurs across the aisle as well. I have to admit some of these deceptions are masterful in their wording.

We have forgotten that America is not a country of rocks and dirt , per se. There are lots of beautiful places on this planet with rocks and dirt. America is an "IDEA". It was an experiment on the importance of government relegated to the lowest level, closest to the people. It was about personal freedoms and personal property and personal opportunity. It was about getting a chance to compete on a level field , with both winning and losing as possibilities. It wasn't about everyone getting the same results , it was about personal ,not collective, outcomes. It was about self governing, not an imperial monarchy.

I received an email that I must share.....sorry if it offends someone.....get over it.

- America is capitalist and greedy, yet half the population is subsidized by the greedy.
- half the population is subsidized, yet they claim to be victims
- they think they are victims, yet their representatives run our government and lie openly to the greedy to appease the subsidized
- their representatives run the government, yet the greedy get richer and the poor get poorer
-they get poorer ,yet they have things that 90% of other people on our planet can only dream about having someday
-they have things that people in other countries can never have, yet our government wants us to be just like the other countries.

IDIOTS !!!!!!

So I say to all of you that are thinking short on the ladder.....if this country wants to be the best we can be, stop the attack on personal property and innovation. We have a mess on our hands and we, the podunk, must do what we can for our future generations. Big problems are solved in little pieces. Identifying and culling out elitist collusion is a good start.

Former OSU Band Director [Dr. Paul Droste] Talks About Waters' Firing

http://www.nbc4i.com/story/26366818/former-osu-band-director-talks-about-waters-firing

http://www.dwerden.com/symphonia/ColdFusion/PaulDroste.htm

We reached out to Leader's founder, Michael McKibben, for comment about Dr. Paul Droste's tenure as director of the OSU Marching Band. He said Dr. Droste replaced Dr. Charlie Spohn in 1970 after McKibben's freshman year in the band. He described Dr. Droste as "a class act." He said Droste made many changes like expanding the size of the band from 120. Droste introduced a new Conn trombonium designed especially for the OSU band. He said he even played in off-season brass quintets with other bandsman and Droste, who is accomplished on the euphonium. He said Droste oversaw the Title IX transition from all male to coed between the '72 and '73 seasons. McKibben said Droste's decision was accepted by most, but not popular with a few traditionalists. He remembers Droste providing firm leadership through the implementation of that dramatic evolution of the band's tradition.

new OSU President and a recalcitrant Board of Trustees. They just sent out this notice to their members. Given the level of misconduct by the trustees already uncovered by AFI, the trustee wheels will fall off and perhaps people will go to jail for their gross misconduct while in a public office. We're taking bets on the TBDBITL Alums:

Five Facts:

1. The Investigation Report is an attack on all current and former band members not just Jon Waters. It grossly distorts band culture, which is one of precision, discipline, hard work and mutual respect. Otherwise, the band could not possibly put on its highly complex and precise halftime shows.

2. To the extent that occasional issues arose, Jon Waters was part of the solution, and not the problem. Current and former band members have publicly confirmed that Jon Waters tolerated no inappropriate behavior of any kind.

3. In his last personnel evaluation, Jon Waters received the highest possible rating, including accolades for causing cultural change within the band.

4. The Investigation Report has been repudiated by those involved in the investigation. Current and former band members have stated publicly that the Report bears no resemblance to what they said when they were interviewed. Others who were discussed in the Report have stated publicly that it got the facts wrong.

5. The university's conduct is unconscionable. Jon Waters was summarily fired without any opportunity to defend himself, and without any severance package of any kind.

When it is obvious that people are lying and sneaking around, the mind wanders.

What has never made sense to me until now about Drake is why he would come into his new job making such a stink with such a beloved institution as the OSU Marching Band. Seeing this new info on Glaros helps explains it. He has no plans to be at OSU long, so this would be a very big diversionary stink. His task is to run interference for the MOOC OSU digital pipeline-laying schemes. Provost Steinmetz was another of the cartel's shills.

Without Ohio States's cooperation, these people can't control the Big 10 Midwest--------the US heartland. It dawned on me that Drake is there simply to bully and stall until the cartel completes its task. If Drake gets prosecuted for his crimes, the current President will just pardon him. That's why he doesn't care about the optics of his despicable behavior.

What a deal! Drake's offshore bank account awaits. He will never think about a Buckeye again.

I'm just sayin'

Power, Money and Statistics. "He who wins Ohio wins the White House." These social media geeks have learned that the masses follow whatever shiny things are dangled in front of them. They needed to get the people of Ohio -- the statistical swing state -- to believe their lies.

OSU MARCHING BAND ALUMNI ASSOCIATION PRESS RELEASE

Aug 26, 2014

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

The student leadership of the 2012 and 2013 Ohio State Marching Band approached TBDBITL Alumni Club and asked for assistance in disseminating the following statement and supporting documents. We are so doing. The Alumni Club did not solicit, encourage, nor contribute in any way to the following statement or supporting documents.

For your convenience, the six supporting documents are available for download, both as PDFs and as plain text files (.txt)

This email and documents are also available on the TBDBITL website.

Leadership Statement

We, the 2012 and 2013 student squad leadership of The Ohio State University Marching Band, know that the allegations reported in the Investigative Report produced in July by the Office of University Compliance and Integrity, the Glaros report, which directly led to the firing of OSUMB Director Jonathan Waters, are false and misleading. As a group of squad leaders in the OSUMB, who served under Mr. Waters, we have unique and valuable insight into how Mr. Waters instituted widespread cultural change through the band staff to the students as well as a well-received and effective cultural grassroots movement. Jon Waters is more than a director of halftime shows. He is an advocate for student safety, equality, and respect between all members. The groundswell of support for Jon would never have occurred if this was not the case.

First and foremost, sexual harassment and hazing of any kind was not tolerated by the marching band staff. Such conduct was met with a zero tolerance policy. Obviously, with a faculty to student ratio of nearly 50 to 1, it is nearly impossible for the staff through limited resources to wholly police the organization both on and off marching band time. It was up to the student leadership to act as stewards in enforcing the policies instituted by Jonathan Waters and to oversee their respective sections in addition to enforcing band policy and procedures.

We know that the "investigation" is severely flawed for many reasons, based upon our own personal knowledge and experiences. No one knows the truth better than those who saw it themselves. The lack of a representative sample size coupled with interviews of only a of few witnesses, several of whom have directly and publicly refuted the Report's conclusions, undermines the findings and conclusions of the Report itself. Individually and as a collective group we have attached specific examples of cultural changes, sexual harassment training, and hazing training. None of this was considered by the university during their investigation. We have also included specific examples of how sexual harassment, hazing, and improper behavior were handled by the marching band staff under the leadership and direction of Jonathan Waters.

The culture of The Ohio State University Marching Band is one of determination, respect, community and volunteerism. The evidence of this positive culture is revealed in the experiences and first hand accounts of current and former band members. Our goal is to provide detailed evidence of these cultural policies ignored in the Report which directly led to the University Administration's uninformed reaction and dismissal of Mr. Waters. We ask that the University issue public apologies to the current band, its alumni, and Mr. Waters and immediately reinstate him as the Director of The Ohio State University Marching Band. We hereby submit ourselves to be interviewed by the task force and have relevant information pertaining to this investigation.

Please review the attached documents. We believe the truth is paramount.

I am sitting on the back porch, having some lovely Cabernet Sauvignon from a beautiful box, and thinking about the unbelievable and massive divide in this country. The Harvard progressives seem to have a theory that if they just give the masses a little more here, and a little more there, that the podunk voting population will fall in line and they will keep power forever. It has garnered a pretty consistent majority for their cause (power and control) .And it has been working. Well , I have a plan to stop their winning approach in its tracks.....and it has a bearing on things highlighted in this blog's agenda. Here it is. The conservative 50% of the population in the US should just outbid them. Whatever they do , we do it bigger. That's just the way we do things in Texas (soon to be northern Mexico/ Guatemala) .

For example. Obama wants a $10.10 per hour minimum wage, we propose $100 .They want a 38% corporate tax, we propose 100%, with no exemptions. They propose a 40% personal tax rate, we propose 100%, no exceptions. We'll tell them that we want to give socialism a really good effort. We will point out that Obama and Harvard his minions have failed to complete the task at hand. They are incompetent at everything they do. They want to abort babies through the third trimester, we propose the third grade. They propose the addition of "gay marriage", we propose no human marriage whatsoever. Who really wants that responsibility? They propose more violent protests for inequality issues, we propose that all skin must be covered ,all of the time, for everyone. And everyone would wear a Darth Vader helmet so your accent would not be discernible. Then it would just be about individual behavior and not skin pigmentation, or location. They say that man is killing the earth, we say earth is killing man. (not sure about this one, but the ill-fated Obamacare website; Michelle Obama's Princeton classmate, Toni Townes-Whitely, is a Senior Vice President of CGI; the website is replete with social features and links to Facebook)

124. Kathleen Sebelius (Obama's Secretary of Health & Human Services since 2009 responsible for $678 million Obamacare implementation; made the decision to hire CGI Federal on a no-bid contract despite the evident conflict of interest with Michelle Obama and $47 million in Obama campaign donations by CGI; the website is replete with social features and links to Facebook)

125. Todd Y. Park (White House Chief Technology Officer (CTO); former CTO for Health & Human Services; chief architect of HealthCare.gov; founder, director, CEO, Athenahealth, Inc.; founder, director, CEO, Castlight Health, Inc.)

126. Frank M. Sands, Sr. / Frank M. Sands, Jr. (Founder and CEO, respectively, of Sands Capital Management LLC; failed to file S.E.C. Form SC 13G acquisition reports for Athenahealth, Inc., Baidu, Inc. (ADR) and Facebook stock during 2012; masked the association of Todd Y. Park with Athenahealth, Inc. and Baidu, Inc., and the association of both of those companies with the Facebook IPO fraud)

127. Robin "Handsome Reward" Yangong Li (CEO, Baidu, Inc. (ADR); appointed Jan. 2004, the same month that Mark Zuckerberg obtained Leader Technologies' social networking source code to start Facebook; Robin Y. Li is very likely associated with John P. and James W. Breyer through their Chinese entities, including IDG Capital Partners, IDG-Accel and other variants; Li appointed a junior attorney from Fenwick & West LLP, Palo Alto/Mountain View, namely Parker Zhang, to be his "Head of Patents;" Fenwick & West LLP represented both Leader Technologies, Inc. and Accel Partners LLC in 2002-2003 and had Leader's source code in their files.)

128. Parker Zhang ("Head of Patents" at Baidu, Inc. (ADR), appointed in approx. May 2012; formerly a junior Associate attorney at Fenwick & West LLP; graduate from Michigan Law in 2005)

129. Penny S. Pritzker (Secretary, Department of Commerce; replaced Rebecca M. Blank; holds over $24 million in Facebook "dark pools" stock, most notably in Goldman Sachs, Morgan Stanley and JPMorgan)

130. Rebecca M. Blank (Secretary, Department of Commerce; oversaw the dubious Leader v. Facebook activities of the Patent Office Director, David J. Kappos, who held over one million dollars in Facebook "dark pools" during the Leader v. Facebook proceedings; Kappos neither will they) .They say guns kill, so we say that we will execute any gun that misbehaves. They want open borders, we say ,not only are the borders open but we also want no border patrol, no military, no policemen, and all houses are open to any one that's wants your stuff can just come and get it. Without question, this could keep the folks real busy 24/7 upgrading their personal property without having to earn any of it. They say we don't need English as an official language, we say that only "expressive grunts "are allowed. No language anywhere, anytime. Try teaching math with grunts ! We won't need such government agencies as the USPTO because ideas are not the individual's property anyway. They become collective ideas.....pretty like Leaders patents.

Now there are many other things wherein we could outbid them but that's for my next glass of wine. I hope you'll endorse my plan because we don't really have to do any of it when we get elected. We have learned the last ten or twelve years that politicians and bureaucrats are not held to account in this country. Lying is a given. Obfuscation is ok and encouraged by the media. We can trick them, dazzle them, and then do what in the hell we want. It's becoming American tradition . I have actually witnessed a " re-election" of men that have perfected this tradition.

Pouring my second glass. Will get back to you on more items on our new agenda. Good night, from the porch.

Some of us have been actively following the Leader v. Facebook judicial and patent corruption scandal for years. We know these malcontent lawyers and their methods now. Hope this perspective he ps.

I hazard a suggestion to Buckeye Nation on this scandalous misconduct by the current crop of OSU "leaders." They are infused with unscrupulous lawyers and law firms (sorry for the redundancy). Their playing field is our US court system which people like them have corrupted. They want to draw Waters and his attorney into a lawsuit. My suggestion is don't take the bait. Don't fight this on their playing field. Fight it on yours. In their playing field, all the rules are rigged in their favor. If they cannot win an argument straight up, they will bribe their way forward. In your playing field there is more common sense and good old Midwestern values of honesty and fairness. The people you are fighting are bi-coastal crooks from Washington DC and California. Betty Montgomery was bought and paid for long ago, as so it appears were many Ohio legislators who took political donations from Drake's crony Woodrow Myers from Wellpoint, Inc.

If you file a lawsuit, these people will have the perfect excuse not to answer further questions ("cannot comment about an active lawsuit"). It will also be the excuse that Ohio legislators need to stay quiet about the events as well ("we cannot interfere in the administration of justice by inquiring into an active lawsuit"). Bottom line, the court of public opinion will be stymied by a lawsuit.

Instead, keep this controversy moving in the court of public opinion. Then these yahoos cannot use these stock excuses to avoid their day of reckoning. There is clearly fraud involved here, so Jon Waters has claims that will last many years before he will have to file something. By then, Drake & Co will be long gone. Then file the suit and bring them back in chains. In my opinion some of this collusion is fraudulent and therefore criminal.

MORNING MUSINGS. I woke up thinking about this which my co-worker calls “cognitive dissonance”
The Ohio State Lantern student newspaper and other blogs contain an unusual number of pro-OSU administration and pro-Drake firing commenters. A number of people I know have observed this incongruity since Buckeye Nation doesn’t yet know anything about the new president Michael Drake. Drake is from California, so Buckeye Nation has no history with him from which to form and opinion about his judgment, one way or another.
What we do know so far is that Drake was hired by Jeffrey Wadsworth, who steals stuff from inventors. So, if Wadsworth chose Drake, then what does that say about Drake? Birds of a feather???
A quick thumbnail survey of these pro-Drake commenters reveals two trends in their comments.
1. they want Waters to sue.
2. they want Waters to move on.
Since Drake has messed with a beloved OSU institution in the Marching Band, we must extrapolate that these commenters are outside agitators.
Waters should do the opposite of what they want.
Go Buckeye Nation! Stick together.

One other question: What were Leslie and Abigail Wexner's roles in this debacle?

K. Craine August 28, 2014 at 6:30 AM

A Waters lawsuit is similar to the Eric H.Holder Wall Street Bank lawsuits aka sleight of hand magic. Holder let them each make $100's of millions in 2008 from their dirty mortgage deals, then in 2012-2014 he slapped them on the wrists with paltry fines to "settle" accounts, which the Department of Justice spends on more of its insider schemes. Bwahaha.

A Waters settlement will just pull a few million dollars from the $30 million that Waters made for them with the Apple iPad commercial, so the university has a net gain from Waters' own contributions! Bwahahaha. Of course they want a lawsuit. This turns it over to dirty lawyers at Arent Fox. It also gives Drake, Steinmetz, Blatti, Mikellson, etc. an excuse to "move on" and stop commenting or having to answer questions from investigators, as Rain said, "we cannot comment on an active lawsuit."

Nice trick, but we're on to your games boys and girls.

K. Craine August 28, 2014 at 6:35 AM

Remember folks, Drake's pick of lawyers for the "ongoing investigation," Arent Fox LLP, is the lawyer for about a half dozen vendors of Ohio State that are clients of OSU Trustee president Jeffrey Wadsorwoth's lobbying firm, McBee Strategic. In short, these people are running a racket, and they think that "podunk school" Buckeye Nation is too ignorant to stop them.

The Buckeyes should start turning up the heat with the individual OSU Trustees. Each trustee is participating in this scandal by his or her silence. They're hiding behind Drake, Wadsworth and Steinmetz... the lovers of all things MOOC/Eclipse. Truth is, they're California Dreamin'

In my experience with political action, people go on these boards for the prestige and connections, not to be the focus of a scandal.

Email them, call their offices, send them letters, confront them at public events, picket, write about their conduct, give them a failing grade as a trustee who is supposed to be overseeing the proper functioning of this great university. Fire them. Truth is, they are turning OSU into a joke that let in Californian interlopers who are now raping and pillaging.

Three names stick out as risk averse:

Clark C. Kellogg, the ESPN basketball announcer
Timothy P. Smucker, of Smucker's Jam fame
Abigail S. Wexner, wife of Leslie Wexner, Limited Brands

Smuckers likes to be squeaky clean. So do Kellogg and Wexner.

They should all be called on the carpet in any forum that they care about.

I suggest calling for a nationwide boycott of Smucker's Jams..yes Smucker's.
Timothy P. Smucker is a member of tOSU's Board of Trustees. And with his silence, he is in 'collusion' with the abominable decision to fire Jon Waters and embarrass TBDBITL in the process.

I would also call a boycott for any of the Limited Brand products (Victoria's Secret, Bath and Body Works, Pink, La Senza, Henri Bendel).
Abigail S. Wexner may be on the Board of Trustees by virtue of her husband's wealth and connection to tOSU, but he certainly won't stand for any sudden drop in sales.

If there is one thing that people these understand, it is the power of the purse. So, let's hit Mr. Smucker and Mrs. Wexner where it hurts…their wallets.

honest human with a logical mind. If so, they would see the sophistry in the Zuckster's story. Maybe not honest, but surely they can add and subtract. This isn't that difficult to figure out. Follow me as I brilliantly lay out the numbers that Flavia and Mavis discovered.

Leader posits that they can prove that their patented source code was identical to the one The Zuckster claimed ,under oath (he called it duress), he wrote in approximately two weeks. The Leader source code has 823,150 lines. Leader spent over $4.5 million and 145,000 expert, sophisticated, educated man-hours in finalizing this novel platform code. Zuckster spent zero dollars and does not have a college degree as far as I know. That number didn't compute to me Maybe a half of a Harvard degree is better than my podunk degree. Whatever.

So I put the "v" twins on a task of counting non stop , one number at a time , without interruption , to determine how long it would take to simply count to 823,150. When one counted, the other slept, ate, etc. and vice versa. I wish you could have heard the foul language. Mavis could have been a navy corpsman with that filthy mouth and those tattoos.

So , it took the ladies nine and a half days , with no thought about how the previous lines , or the next line, of a novel source code input could affect the code outcome. One number every second for nine and one half days. So based on my protocoled ,human trial , the Zuckster had potentially the greatest two weeks of conceptualizing ever.....It took God seven days to create all matter. Granted he had a few explosions and wild gases and stuff but the Zuckster's feat is right up there. And what a marvelous coinky-dink that his code and Leaders patented code are identical....and then there was his unbelievable loss of memory when he testified that he kinda forget a few of the details on its structure and design. His epiphany went away?

Nine and a half days versus two weeks. Just simple monotonous counting by our irritated ladies versus his claim of creating the basis for the massive social networking phenomena today. And , wow, he must not have slept, or eaten or visited the outhouse, cause that would be even better than God. Perhaps his pomposity is deserved after all.

LOL TEX. One correction to your math. Double Leader's R&D cost for those 145,000 programmer-hours. Michael McKibben testified at trial that Leader's cost was $10+ million. Mavis and Flavia would be upset, me thinks, at being told the wrong cost, them being such sticklers and all.

What is happening right now to my family and my beloved university is both incomprehensible and heartbreaking.

I would like to share with you what the TBDBITL Alumni Club has sent to the media today:

"The administration, now running our University, should be encouraged to embrace communication, to solve problems objectively and honestly, and to embrace the Honor and Friendship which has always epitomized Ohio State. It is the University of our parents and children as well. We feel as though we are being "handled" simply by another large corporation. It feels like we are an opponent in a political campaign.

We are Family. It does not feel like Ohio State any more.

Attached is the Open Letter sent to President Drake and the Board of Trustees by the TBDBITL Alumni Club seeking repudiation of the wrongful Glaros Report and reinstatement of Jonathan Waters.

The TBDBITL Alumni Club is aware that the university administration has replied to the detailed information provided by Squad Leaders last night with a dismissive response indicating a continuing unwillingness to deal openly and honestly with the defects in the Report and the facts as are now publically known. Executive Sessions, refusals to meet, and avoidance will never solve these issues or heal the festering wounds."

The TBDBITL Alumni Board of Governors encourages everyone to show up tomorrow to the Board of Trustees meeting to show your support for Jon, the OSUMB, and your fellow TBDBITL Alumni. Bring your signs, bring your instruments. I have spoken with the OSU Police Dept. and they fully support our First Amendment Rights and to show support in a respectful way.

Please show your support in a manner that conveys the dignity and class TBDBITL Alumni have always shown before. Let's not give the university a leg up. We have the leg up. Let's keep it that way.

An Open Letter to OSU President Michael Drake and the Board of Trustees.....

"Our Honor Defend..."
"How Firm Thy Friendship..."

Mr. President, our Honor has been attacked and sense of Friendship shaken.

The words of the Buckeye Battle Cry and Carmen Ohio reflect a commitment by decades of students and supporters, their families and friends, to education, to OSU athletic teams and to generations of Ohio State University Marching Band members.

The so-called Glaros Report incredibly and falsely, vilifies the Marching Band, bizarrely claiming the existence of a "sexualized" culture.

We call upon you to repudiate that claim and to immediately disavow this wrongful attack, as we have. You know the Report is wrong.

The Marching Band includes over 240 dedicated students who are living their dream, as did we, in support of The Ohio State University. More than 7000 alumni have worn the Band's uniform, in firm friendship and defense of the honor of the University. Their legacy and reputations have been falsely dishonored.

Words cannot convey our outrage that your new administration has dealt this unimaginable blow to the Marching Band and our great University.

Why would your staff investigate so hastily, and write such preposterous alleged "facts" and "conclusions," which have been proven to be suspect - and often false - over the last 4 weeks?

Why place such innuendos and half-truths in a public report, other than to satisfy a hidden agenda? You know the Report is wrong.

Current and past band members have publically repudiated the Glaros Report. For example, five female band members whose nicknames were described as sexual and offensive have written to you, emphatically stating they were neither harassed nor "sexualized" by anyone in the band, and that it was the Glaros Report which first made them victims by subjecting them to offensive comments about their character and physical appearance.

The Glaros Report claims that Band Director Jonathan Waters did not do enough to change the culture but ignores that, in his recent performance evaluation he was praised for remarkable success in making swift and positive changes in Band values and traditions.

The Band puts its true culture on display nearly every Saturday during football season. Its precision marching, musical performances and countless volunteer and charitable activities - coupled with jaw-dropping formations created by Jonathan Waters - require incredible teamwork based on mutual respect, caring and discipline. You know the Report is wrong.

President Drake, we respectfully ask you to do the right thing. You are now aware of the grievous errors in the Glaros Report. More surface daily. You have now heard from scores of Band members and alumni about the true Band culture. The limited charge given to Betty Montgomery involves recommendations for best practices for the future. Her report should not be allowed to paper over the wrongfu ness of the Glaros Report.

You can end this nightmare by immediately reinstating Jonathan Waters as OSU Marching Band Director. You can repudiate the false Glaros Report and begin the slow process of restoring the magnificent reputation of The Ohio State University Marching Band. Jonathan Waters is uniquely situated to work with your administration, the current Band members and alumni to restore the image and reputation of "The Best Damn Band In The Land."

Our honor defend...

Recommendation to current OSU Marching Band members: Don't take the bait. These unscrupulous attorneys depend upon the unsuspecting character of honest people to trip them up with trick questions and deception which they will manipulate in ways you cannot imagine. Your best answer to all questions that thwarts this agenda is "I don't recall." Remember this during your career. Information you give unscrupulous attorneys can never he p and will always hurt you. Learn this lesson early in your career.

It never made sense to me why after a century of the quarter system, that OSU converted to semesters, at great expense. Was the MOOC agenda, like Common Core, the underlying motivation for the switch. That way, all of Ohio State's classes could then be loaded onto Provost Steinmetz's MOOC train.

Dear Puzzled,

Don't forget to acknowledge the MOOC agenda (capture the minds of the young forever) of at least two of Jeffrey Wadsworth's lobbyist's (McBee Strategic) clients, Google and Oracle. This fleecing of American rights and sovereignty is an inside job, and we must start exposing its leaders and footsoldiers. Drake and Steinmetz are its foot soldiers. Wadsworth is one of the leaders, in our opinion.

Ohio State's Board of Trustees has refused to allow Waters to address the board, but that did not stop Waters’ supporters from letting their voices being heard.

Outside the Ohio State University Longaberger Alumni House on Friday, a musical protest by Band Alumni played in support of former band Director Jon Waters.

UNDER THE CAPTION IN AN OLIGARCHY OF OH! HOW BENEVOLENT...

Ohio State trustees give brief forum for band complaints after protests overshadow meeting

When the Ohio State Board of Trustees met Friday morning, its purpose was to hear committee reports and approve decisions on its agenda. The proceedings, however, were largely overshadowed by people protesting the firing of marching band director Jonathan Waters.

In the hour before the meeting, band alumni and others met outside the Longaberger Alumni House. Many came with their instruments and sheet music, playing songs as a plane flew over bearing a “We Stand With Jon” banner.

Board meetings rarely become a media frenzy, but local television and radio news outlets came out to film the proceedings and document the actions of protesters.

Isn't interesting how none of our regular pro-Facebook Cartel commenters have posted on these last two posts re. the Ohio State Marching band scandal and the connections to Leader v. Facebook and the Facebook Cartel? It appears that they were reassigned to posting anti-OSU Marching Band, anti-Jon Waters and pro-Drake/pro-Waters firing comments on all the Ohio State blogs and at the OSU Lantern. They really do think that the American public is so gullible that if they keep re-posting and repeating their lies, eventually the public believes them. Let's hope the American public is finally waking up to this gross manipulation of public opinion by well-funded goons who are the equivalent of Hitler's Brown Shirts.

Old TEX , that's me, has been around a while.....probably beyond my level of " productivity vs consumption" . I have been thinking about a lot of things, especially how the stronger men in this country are sadly eschewing leadership roles.....just when we need them the most. In the PC game of neutralizing our stronger , opposite minded potential leaders, the elites paint them as racists, homophobic, misogynist, uncaring, selfish, greedy, etc. The attached article is spot on, even in the distinct Jon Waters saga. America was founded on a balanced approach to governance where the wishes of the majority prevailed without depriving the rights of the minority. It was a republic where all power was given to the people, and very intentionally not to tyrants and oligarchs on one side or anarchists on the other. This Cartel of Harvard and Stanford goons thinks they know that an oligarchy ruled by them is best for us all. Anyone who does not embrace their elevated self importance must be crushed. Disagreement with this new intellectual collective cannot be tolerated because dissent spoils the luster of the "social media" shiny things they wish to dangle for universal admiration. This is clearly the path they are on. Go Buckeye Nation. Take the Facebook Cartel down. They evidently think that your "Podunk" school would be unable to resist their intellectual superiority.

#1.It seems to an outsider of OSU that the University has more conflicts of interest and ethical problems than the latest one.
Trying to use John Waters as a scapegoat to avert attention from their own impropriety being one.
A recent article states, While Drake was Chancellor at the University of California Irvine, 12 days of controversy swirled when Drake hired and then fired the head of his new law school.
The article goes on to say, then just one week later before Chemerinsky could start the new job Drake flew to Duke and fired him. At the time Drake said he wasn't aware that Chemerinsky political views would make him a target for conservatives.
You mean he didn't do his homework there, either? The OSU president's own judgment comes into question with his snap decision on Waters.

#2.Now we have the questionable hiring of trustee, Alex Fisher, and the hiring of his present wife to the Ohio Civil Rights Commission, Lori Barreras.
Although she was appointed by Governor John Kasich, just where did her glowing recommendations come from. Did they come from Jeff Wadsworth?
Did Alex Fischer's recommendation to be a Trustee of the University also come from Jeff Wadsworth?
Does Jeff Wadsworth hold information over these two since he was their employer and is most likely to have known the real reason Alex Fisher and Lori Barreras resigned from Battelle the same month.
Truthteller asked the question about possible misuse of Battelle's Corporate jet for their personal use, and the time frame is while Alex was still married, but not to Lori.
I know that OSU has an Ethics and Morals clause.
Why was it overlooked in the hiring of these two to put them in the positions that they are now judging a moral and ethical issue against another individual.
These two screwed up themselves. (Pardon the pun), but they want you to believe that they are upstanding citizens and shouldn't be judged for their actions.
Where are the Moral and Ethical standards of the person who helps coverup misbehavior and then gves glowing recomendations to get a person hired in where they continue to have influence over them?

#3. Then we come to Alegnon Marbley. As of late May 2014, he was under ethical scrutiny. The article referenced states; The ethics commission previously issued opinions that said trustees at Kent State and the University of Toledo were prohibited from holding paid teaching positions. Those opinions were advisory and not part of an investigation.

Ohio State asked only for a commission opinion, but, the panel launched an investigation in February because a potential conflict had already occurred.
“This question for us is not about the quality of the instruction but rather the legality of the contract,” said commission director Paul Nick.
Another issue for the commission is a 2009 advisory opinion for federal judges advising that judges should not serve as trustees at public universities.
Larry James his lawyer said “that opinion, which is only a recommendation, is not within the ethics commission’s jurisdiction.”
Amazing how the judge and the University were only asking for an "Opinion"!
When the "Opinion" isn’t favorable and doesn’t follow what they want, they say they are not bound by an Opinion.
One other thing that the article said they were looking into with the judge is, “the commission is also investigating any potential conflict of interest with the University’s hiring of Marbley’s daughter-in-law while he served as trustee.
Marbley says he wasn’t aware she been hired until after she got the job. Nepotism? (Appearance of Impropriety?)
CANON 2: A JUDGE SHOULD AVOID IMPROPRIETY AND THE APPEARANCE OF IMPROPRIETY IN ALL ACTIVITIES
Canon 2B. Testimony as a character witness injects the prestige of the judicial office into the proceeding in which the judge testifies and may be perceived as an official testimonial. A judge should discourage a party from requiring the judge to testify as a character witness except in unusual circumstances when the demands of justice require. This Canon does not create a privilege against testifying in response to an official summons.
Since the firing of Jon Waters was not a court hearing, wasn’t the judge's vote as a Trustee against Jon Waters character in violation of Canon 2B because he cannot remove his judicial hat at the whim of the university.
And isn’t the judge in violation of Canon 2 with his conflict of interest by being a trustee at Ohio State University.
Also in Canon 2 it states, A judge must expect to be the subject of constant public scrutiny and accept freely and willingly restrictions that might be viewed as burdensome by the ordinary citizen.
These are the standards he swore to uphold, but it seems these standards don't fit his agenda. I am sure he has good intentions but you know what they say! (Quote for another time)!

If John Waters can be judged by the statement he knew or should have known, then OSU President Drake, Alex Fischer, Lori Barreras and Judge Marbley should be judged by the same standard.
They knew or should have known of their ethics violations and conflicts of interest and bad moral judgments and recuse themselves from judgment against another person!

Email comment by a conservative reader of this blog:

From a Bible Study

Remember what Jesus said: 'Goats on the left, sheep on the right' (Matthew 25:33).

Jesus also told Peter that if he wanted to catch fish do it from the right side of the boat. They did and filled the boat with fish.

John 21:6 (NIV) He said, "Throw your net on the right side of the boat and you will find some." When they did, they were unable to haul the net in because of the large number of fish."

is that conservatives are called the "right" and Liberals are called the "left".

By chance I stumbled upon this verse in the Bible:

Ecclesiastes 10:2
(NIV) - "The heart of the wise inclines to the right, but the heart of the fool to the left." Thus says the Lord. Amen.

It surely can't get any simpler than that.

Email comment by TEX:

Finishing off my box of Cabernet this evening from last week and am plenty mad. First of all, there are really bright (?) celebrities that have posed naked on the internet that want the FBI to track down the hackers who later also put them on the internet. Huh? Eric Holder wants to get to the bottom of this, so to speak. Hey Obama, you hack, hire these hackers to fix the Obamacare website!!!! Put their brilliance to work. Flavia wanted to know who to contact about this naked cloud stuff so I gave her Holders' WhiteHouse.gov email. She'll send a few pictures tonite. That will cause a pause in the action !

Our President (?) is in Estonia today because our fellow Americans are being beheaded in Estonia. Oh wait, never mind. Hey Obama, our issue is in the Middle East . The headless Americans are in Iraq !! Go there.

Our President is playing golf every chance he gets yet we have the greatest world terror threat in 1200 years telling us that they are really serious about coming to America. They are rich, they are brutal, and the extremism is growing. Obama is delusional. And his aides are golfed out. Focus, Mr President, focus.

The President gave a speech in Detroit about minimum wage when most of the fo ks there have no wage. He talks about fairness and then gets in his big old jet and flies to a club and tees off. No problem, the productive tax payers can cover it. He is delusional.

Here are some of my other concerns. How about that cash for clunkers idea, or GM being bailed out and having millions of subsequent recalls ? How about our diminishing property rights due to taxes, regulations, and things like the USPTO not recognizing patents. Our Republic was designed for private property and the freedom to savor it. Taxes and regulations take those things away.

I am concerned about Obama care destroying our medical care . I am concerned that the world is laughing at us with our lack of strategy to confront the people that are planning 24/7 to kill us. I am concerned about foreigners running amuck across our borders. Have you thought about being on your knees while one of these animals saws on your neck ?

I am concerned about legalizing mind numbing drugs, and I am concerned about our kids being encouraged to forget about being better than their folks. I am concerned about companies that don't want to be here anymore and CEO's that are called greedy for trying to perform. I am concerned about our leaders that use the UN to get control of our personal weapons and lie with impunity about global temperatures. How many losers in a row is he allowed before we question his ability ?

I am concerned about the thugs in Missouri getting more attention than our men and women in the VA. I am concerned that we have lost our focus and there are no leaders in sight. Name just one person that you think can fix this mess. ?

So , what should we do ? Anybody ? Anybody ? Harvard, is this the best you can do ? If you need a few ideas. give old TEX a call.

OSU MARCHING BAND ALUMNI SAY OSU TRUSTEE PRESIDENT JEFFERY WADSWORTH IS SUBSTITUTING HIS OPINIONS FOR TRUSTEE ACTIONS --- MORE INDICATIONS OF THE FACEBOOK CARTEL COLLUSION UNCOVERED BY AFI INVESTIGATORS

Email comment by the TBDBITL Alumni
FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

(Columbus, Ohio) From TBDBITL Alumni Club

Friday, within an hour and a half after finally agreeing to allow a mere 5 minutes for public comments on their 60 minute agenda, the chair of the OSU Board of Trustees empowered the new OSU PR reps to fire back. While ignoring our public open meeting comments (other than to suggest a continuing study may present useful results), OSU Board of Trustee Chairman Dr. Wadsworth proceeded to authorize a counterattack by press release.

That counterattack suggested inaccurately once again that the Ohio State University Board of Trustees had taken action which in fact never occurred and that it had endorsed the irresponsible actions of President Drake towards the Marching Band and Jon Waters. No action had been taken by this Board of Trustees. To suggest otherwise is to disregard, once again, the Ohio open meetings law.

The Chair of the Board of Trustees simply has the power to preside at meetings not to substitute opinions for Board action.

We know the Members of the Board of Trustees are not happy with the handling of the OSUMB and Jon Waters situations by this administration. That handling has thoughtlessly brought about division and strife. It has brought inappropriate shame to the institution which the Chair ironically calls "our world class marching band."

We know the individual Trustees want a dialogue. We will have that dialogue, supported by our own pending investigation report.
