Source of National Security Breach Identified – Leaker is David Laufman of DOJ

Obama holdover David Laufman is the source of the national security leaks, Cernovich Media can exclusively report. David Laufman, Chief of Counterintelligence, has all classified information regarding espionage pass by his desk.

The leaks have wrongly been blamed on the FBI, sources tell me, leading to a morale issue with the agency.

"The FBI prides itself as being seen as apolitical," one source told me, "and are frustrated that they are being accused of playing politics."

"DOJ has been completely politicized by Obama's appointees," a member of the intelligence community informed me, "leading to major conflicts with the FBI."

The FBI is totally unable to stop the national security "leakers" that have permeated our government for a long time. They can't even.....

Laufman, who had donated to Obama's presidential campaign fund in past election cycles, was the DOJ official who investigated Hillary Clinton in what was promised to be an independent investigation. How an Obama donor could be trusted to investigate Obama's heir apparent was never explored by the fake news media.

Even worse is that as Chief of Counterintelligence, Laufman has the power to kill any investigations into leaks, a power he has been exercising.

Another source told me Attorney General Jeff Sessions must "clear out" Obama holdovers like Laufman if the Trump administration expects the leaks to stop.
