

Doug Emhoff Leaves DLA Piper Partnership as Biden-Harris Transition Continues

Kamala Harris' husband already took a leave of absence from the firm starting in August.

By Lizzy McLellan | November 10, 2020 at 03:59 PM

[CONTEXTUAL NOTE: British Sir Nigel Graham Knowles, was CEO of DLA Piper Plc (London, UK, 1996-2016). Sir Nigel is a founding director of SGO Smartmatic formed on Nov. 24, 2014, "the world's leading voting technology provider." Sir Nigel Knowles is fellow at Oxford University. Given his intimate relationship with Privy Councillor Lord Mark Malloch-Brown, Sir Nigel is undoubtedly a member of the British Pilgrims Society.]

U.S. Sen. Kamala Harris with husband and DLA Piper partner Doug Emhoff / Photo: David Paul Morris/Bloomberg

Kamala Harris' Big Law Second Spouse, Doug Emhoff, has left the partnership at DLA Piper as Harris continues to work on a transition into the vice presidency.

Lizzy McLellan

Lizzy McLellan is a senior editor on ALM's business of law desk.
Contact her at lmclellan@alm.com. On Twitter: @LizzyM

Reproduced for educational purposes only. Fair Use relied upon.